Gardenaires mark 20th year

The Gardenaires Garden Club is observing its 20th anniversary during the month of October with different projects and presentations, including a birthday luncheon in the home of the club president, Mrs. Jan Kohl.

Mrs. John Tracy and Mrs. Kohl founded the club in October 1954 and the organization was accepted into the National Council of State Garden Clubs in 1956.

To mark the anniversary, two decorative plants were presented to the Granite City Public Library. A copy of "The White House Gardens," a history and pictorial record of the gardens there, also was given to the library.

Mrs. John Farrell of Fosterberg, a club member, baked and decorated a special cake for the luncheon held at the Kohl residence. The club also enrolled Mrs. Roy Harmon of Edwardsville as a new member.

Committee chairmen reporting included Mrs. A. A. Malottki, garden center, who explained the October's exhibit at the library featuring mulches; and Mrs. Earl Glenn, who discussed evaluation and recommendations for outside planting at the library. Mrs. Glenn is co-ordinating the planting program with Wayne Siffert of the University Extension Service.

Mrs. C. E. Eads reviewed by-law changes and a report was submitted by Mrs. Kohl on the garden club presidents' meeting at which the Madison County Nature Trail was discussed. She said club representatives will meet on Nov. 4 to further evaluate the project.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent recalling early days of the club. Also present were Mrs. Abe Shannon, Mrs. William Long and Mrs. Alex Tarpo.

Mrs. Mary Kristian will host the Nov. 14 meeting.

MISSIONARY SERVICE at Bethel Chapel Church, 25th Street and Ohio Avenue, Saturday and Sunday, will feature testimonies by the Rev. and Mrs. George Ajamian of Lebanon concerning their missionary experiences during the Israeli war. Mrs. Ajamian was a former Methodist school teacher and an evangelist before beginning missionary work in Lebanon. The public has been invited to the services which will begin at 7:30 each evening.

WHY CHAIRS IN PAIRS?

The next time you're considering new chairs for your home, you might think about "chairs in pairs."

There are many advantages to buying twin chairs.

A main advantage is that chairs in pairs help to unify a room, leaving you free to assemble other distinctive pieces you want for contrast and individuality with the two chairs bringing desired unity. Chairs in pairs help give you harmony if other things are mixed. This can really give you the best of both decorating worlds.

Another advantage of chairs in pairs is that they help you simplify furniture arrangements in a room. By their very nature they can suggest a beautiful setting for you, and new dimensions of splendor to your home.

It's wise decorating to seek out twin chairs. They can be more practical for you, and add new dimensions of splendor to your home.

And chairs in pairs do not necessarily have to be exactly identical. Manufacturers make chairs that go together but are still somewhat different and stand on their own, so to speak.

Either way, whether the two chairs are exactly identical, or are just related twins, be sure to look for chairs in pairs when you do your furniture shopping. And we'd be happy to have you do your furniture shopping here. Stop in.

If you're interested in Early American or Modern chairs, in durable Hercules or easy to care vinyl, we'll have what you need in a rainbow of colors.

Create new GC engineering post

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer
A new city position, that of highway and traffic engineer, was created by the Granite City Council Monday night in another move to upgrade the city's engineering department to handle an expanding program of street and traffic safety programs.

After approving an ordinance that amends the Municipal Code to create the position at an annual salary of $15,000, council members approved the appointment by Mayor Paul Schulz of Edward Schulz, Belleville, to fill the post.

At the same time, the aldermen were informed by Robert Kromst, district engineer of the Illinois Highway Department, that the state Department of Transportation proposes to install electric traffic signals at 20th and State streets in Granite City, with the state assuming the full cost.

Although a copy of a city-state agreement for the 20th-State Street project was sent to the council for approval, action was delayed on approval of the agreement at the request of the mayor. Schulz said later he wants to clarify some points in the agreement pertaining to no parking regulations in the area of the intersection.

The employment of a full-time assistant city engineer had been recommended by the council's Street and Alley Committee headed by Alderman Clyde Boyd as a means of adequately supervising the mounting volume of engineering work resulting from a growing number of street improvement and traffic signal projects developed over the past few months.

Creation of the city highway and traffic engineer, synonymous to that of assistant city engineer, will clear the way for the city to pay part of the salary in the new job from motor fuel tax funds when projects require the services of a resident engineer, according to City Engineer Monroe Brewer.

Opposition to the new assistant engineering post came from Alderman Walter Noss of the Fifth Ward who said he believed the city "is defeating its own purpose in hiring another engineer" because the city last year hired a city engineer "to do the work on all city projects."

Brewer explained, however, that employment of an assistant city engineer actually would save the city money because he could be used as a resident engineer on state-sponsored projects. Brewer said that the state requires a full-time resident engineer on jobs financed wholly or in part by the state, and that the state will not accept him (Brewer) as a resident engineer.

Alderman Ronald Coleman asked Brewer why he was not acceptable. Brewer said the state would not approve him as a resident engineer because he is a full-time city engineer and has other duties to perform, and therefore could not devote full time to the resident engineer assignment.

Brewer said that the city, by using consulting engineers for inspection purposes and as resident engineers on state-financed jobs, has been paying about $17 an hour in fees for such work. A full-time city engineer who can assume the same duties would cost the city about $7 an hour, Brewer said.

He noted that the city has a list of improvements either under way or in the making that will require a resident engineer. In many assignments, he explained, part of Schulz's salary can be paid from motor fuel tax funds rather than from general funds.

Among projects for which additional engineering work is necessary, Brewer said, are plans for installation of traffic signal controls at 18th Street and Madison Avenue, the newly proposed traffic signal system at 20th and State Street and the intersection improvement at Nameoki Road and Fehling-Johnson roads. Work on the Nameoki road project began this week.

Jail plan change rejected

An attempt by Madison County Board Member Robert Ford Jr. of Wood River to delete sheriff's living quarters from a proposed new $4 million Madison County Jail was defeated by the County Board yesterday and the board proceeded to move ahead with the jail plan.

Ford had reserved space on the county board agenda to introduce a resolution deleting the sheriff's living quarters from the jail plan, but when that portion of the agenda was read, Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer said, "I will not recognize your resolution."

In a prepared statement, Hagnauer cited sections of the law which indicated the full jail bonding program had been approved by the County Board and the period had expired in which persons could force the issue to a referendum by presenting a valid petition to the county clerk.

"This section does not provide for the amending of the original resolution and therefore the resolution as originally adopted cannot now, in any way, be amended," he said.

"I would like to point out that this statute has been on the books since 1955 and it has always provided for the con-

The city also has in the planning stage the extension of Maryville Road in a joint county-city project; construction of an access road from the Nameoki shopping area to downtown Granite City and construction of an overpass from downtown Granite City to West Granite.

Fellowship programs transferred

The administration of three graduate fellowship programs for minorities has been transferred from the Ford Foundation to the Educational Testing Service, according to Roy Peterson, assistant dean of the Graduate School of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Peterson said the programs are aimed at increasing the number of doctorates among Mexican Americans, native Americans (Aleuts, Eskimos, American Indians, and Hawaiians), and Puerto Ricans, as well as black Americans, "to enhance their opportunities for careers in higher education."

employed as an engineer by the Flagg, Scheibel & Sherbut engineering firm of Edwardsville which served as consulting engineers for Granite City in the modernization and traffic signal improvements at four Madison Avenue intersections. Schulz represented the Edwardsville firm as a resident engineer on those jobs. He assumed his duties in the new city post on Tuesday.

An ordinance establishing a franchise agreement under which cable television would be installed in Granite City is under study by city officials and may be presented to City Council action soon.

A draft of the ordinance submitted by Tri Cities Cablevision, Inc. was delivered to the Ordinance Committee of the City Council Monday night and was referred to City Attorney George Pilcoff for review before being advanced to passage stage.

If approved, the bill would establish an agreement between the city and the cablevision company for installation of lines and cables in compliance with city requirements and specifications, establish rates for service charges and specify franchise fees that would be paid by the city. The proposed contract for a three-year period with an option for renewal.

Mayor Paul Schulz told the Press-Record after the meeting that the proposed ordinance is the result of meetings with officials of the company since early this year. An ordinance was proposed by the company last March but after a study of that bill a number of alterations were suggested by the city.

The new ordinance received by the city Monday includes the requested changes and the ordinance probably will be submitted to the council within the next week or so if examination by Pilcoff shows the bill complies with the franchise laws made by the city.

In return for the franchise, the company would pay Granite City 3 per cent of gross revenues. The franchise fee would be paid in lieu of any occupation tax, license tax or similar levy, the bill states.

The measure provides that in addition to franchise fees, the company will provide without installation charge a service fee six times for use at the City Hall, one of which would serve the police station, and free connections to all fire houses and other municipal buildings designated by the city. Free service also would be provided all public and parochial schools and secondary and college level schools.

The company would be required to furnish a minimum of 12 television channels, although the ordinance specifies that the facilities shall have a capacity of 20 channels. Required under the bill would be service with KMOX, KBD, WNSN (Chicago), WGN (Chicago), KTVI, KETC (educational, Channel 9), KPLR and KDNL, one local government channel, one local educational channel and one local origination channel.

The ordinance also calls for "significant" construction within two years after the company receives its certificate of completion from the Federal Communications Commission, extension of franchises, and cables through the area no later than two years after construction.

John Palchiff, superintendent, said the student who failed to attend the hearing will not be allowed to re-enter school until the board meets with both the student and the parents.

The hearings Monday, with the exception of that student, completed board action in the cases of 27 students scheduled for disciplinary action in connection with problems at the high school.

As a result of hearings, the board now has reinstated 23 suspended students on probation and expelled two others. Two of the students suspended withdrew from school.

Supt. Palchiff said the board plans informal discussions with teachers in an effort to help determine lasting solutions to discipline problems.

Students tour GC fire house
Twenty-three first-grade students from Sacred Heart School were the guests of Granite City firemen during a tour of the main fire station, 27th Street and Madison Avenue.

Firemen displayed much of the fire equipment, including showing students the operation of the aerial ladder truck.

The students were accompanied by their teacher, Sister Barbara May, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Antoff, Mrs. Mary Lou Bowers and Mrs. Carol Whitsett.

Students on the field trip were Carolyn Alexander, Keith and Kevin Antoff, Dawn Bowers, Kimberly Crow, David and Donald DeGonia, Theresa Frazer, John McGowan and Dawn McKinney.

GC studies cable television bill

The local origination channel would be used for such purposes as television coverage of City Council meetings, elections, parades, athletic events and other cultural, civic and educational events of interest.

Tri Cities Cablevision, Inc., is a part of Madison County Cablevision, an Alton firm which is preparing to give service to 432 homes in the East Alton and Wood River area. The company turned on its system for those areas in ceremonies a week ago.

The company will provide all insurance on its system and its operation. The bill stipulates that the company will file a schedule of charges to subscribers for its services with the city not less than 60 days prior to the effective date of operation.

The monthly service rate to be charged shall not exceed $5.75 per month for the first outlet, plus an additional $1.50 per month for FM service, and shall not exceed $1.75 per month for each additional outlet.

The distribution system, the bill states, "shall be installed, operated and maintained in such a manner that no interference will be caused to the reception of signals from standard television broadcast stations or to the reception of signals transmitted by any communications service authorized by any federal agency."

In its installation of the system, the company would use poles already erected and maintained by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., and the Illinois Power Co., but would locate its lines underground in those areas where utilities are so located.

No mail delivery Monday

The federal observance of Veterans' Day will interfere only slightly with regular business in the quad-city area operations Monday when area post offices and federal offices will close to mark the holiday. While there will be no mail delivery, schools, banks, financial institution, state and most city offices will be open as usual. They will close on Nov. 11 to observe Veterans' Day under an Illinois law which changed the observance date from the last Monday of October which had been designated by federal law.

Offices of the city of Madison will close Monday as the only local government unit to observe the federal date. Granite City and Venice municipal offices will be open.

Workers in a number of area industrial plants will observe the Monday holiday, however, in accordance with holiday dates specified in union contracts.

The post offices in Granite City, Madison and Venice will observe holiday schedules. The lobbies will be open for box patrons.

City-wide needs were stressed at the Tuesday luncheon meeting of the Granite City Rotary Club held in the YMCA.

One Rotarian expressed concern over the feeling he gets from attending the council meetings that some aldermen spend little time on "the welfare of the city as a whole" but stress matters related primarily to their wards.

Hospital holds emergency drill

A mock emergency drill was held this morning at St. Elizabeth Hospital, involving every hospital department, as 14 severely injured patients converged on the hospital following a supposed train and auto crash.

The "victims" were students from the Granite City high schools, who were made up to portray severe burns, cuts, bruises, broken limbs and internal injuries.

Extra emergency treatment rooms were set up and several local physicians, in addition to the regular staff, were on hand to assist with the disaster training.

The "crash victims" were brought to the hospital emergency room by ambulances, basically at the same time, testing the skills of the entire staff.

Housekeeping personnel brought in extra cots to the emergency room and a special auditing office was set up.

The "victims" were met by local and staff doctors called in to assist. The "patients" were given first aid by the nurses and medical staff, then sent to various sections of the hospital for further treatment. Several were "admitted" and a few "died" in the emergency room.

Order trash barrels removed

Those familiar litter barrels marked with advertisements of merchants may disappear from downtown Granite City street corners unless liability insurance is renewed by the firm that distributed them, according to a ruling by City Council members Monday night.

The council, notified by City Attorney George Filloff that his office and Robert Stevens, city clerk, had written letters to the United Services of America, Inc., Westerville, Ohio, after the officials learned that liability insurance on the use of the barrels had expired, asking that insurance be renewed. Filloff said neither had received a response.

The council voted to remove the barrels and instructed Street Superintendent Lionel Portell to have them picked up. Portell said later that the pickup was delayed pending investigation by the Chamber of Commerce to determine if the insurance matter could be resolved.

The Chamber sponsored a project in which the barrels were placed on street corners to reduce littering of streets and sidewalks.

Galvan scores 2 Dutchman goals

The Belleville Area College soccer Dutchmen played Parks College of Cahokia, a four-year school, to a 2-2 tie yesterday. Playing 45-minute halves, the teams had a scoreless first half. Granite City Bobby Galvan opened the second-half scoring by heading the ball into the net after receiving an assist from Dennis Jones, formerly of GCHS North.

Galvan scored again unassisted with 10 minutes left to play when he beat two defenders to the ball and powered it into the left corner of the net.

Shots on goal were: BAC 15, Parks 20. Larry Petri had eight saves, as did the Parks goalie. Corner kicks were even at 5-5.

Swimmers third

The first-year swimming team of the Tri-City Area YMCA, tutored by Herb Reisinger, placed third during the weekend in a triangular meet with Belleville at Carbondale.

The hosts won with 458 points earned by 62 swimmers. Belleville had 40 swimmers and 230 points. Granite City entered only eight and earned 87 points. Judy Reisinger, 15, won the 50-yard and 100-yard freestyle and was second in the 200 individual medley.

David Jolly, 12, was first in the 50-yard freestyle and butterfly and second in the 100-yard individual medley.

Placing also were Ken and Jason Jolly, 2nd in 25 backstroke, Elizabeth Wilson, Jeff Welborn and Mary Barnett.

Football Braves garner 25-8 win

The Coolidge Junior High School football Braves are undefeated (5-0) after defeating Grigsby 25-8 yesterday at South Field.

Both teams were scoreless in the first quarter. The Braves then tallied in the next three periods. Quarterback Jeff Parker passed to Todd McFarland, Jeff Tretter kicking the extra point; Mike Kramer scored on a four-yard sweep; Parker threw a 30-yard pass to Kramer; and a triple-reverse pass play to Tretter provided a touchdown.

Grigsby's Bruce Uznoff ramblined 35 yards late in the final period to score, and Russ Chappell Jr. provided a two-point conversion.

The victors of GCHS South's two contests will then play each other at 3:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 1, to decide an entry in GCHS South's sectional championship game on Nov. 5.

Winners of GCHS North's two sub-sectional games will meet on Steeler Field at 11 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 2, to place the victor in South's sectional.

The sectional champion will advance to the IHSA state soccer finals at Northern Illinois University on the weekend of Nov. 8-9 to meet the Lake Forest sectional champion.

Free throw meet for boys, girls 8-13 years old

Three junior high schools—Prather, Grigsby, Coolidge—have been designated as tournament sites as part of a national Elks "hoop shoot" free throw contest to be held Dec. 1.

Richard Yates, assistant principal of Coolidge Junior High, has been appointed chairman of the contest, which is being sponsored here by the Granite City Elks Lodge.

Yates said the contest will be open to all Quad-City boys and girls ages 8-13.

A Quad-City area champion will be determined in each of three age groups—8-9, 10-11 and 12-13. Champions from this area will qualify for district competition to be held early next year.

Entry forms are now available at the main offices of the three schools and must be completed and returned no later than Dec. 1.

Shafter second

Granite City drag racer "Fast Freddie" Shafter piloted his pro-stock racer to runnerup honors this week in the National Hot Rod Association's third annual Pro-Stock Nationals at Kentucky's Bluegrass Dragway.

Shafter was matched in the final round with Bob Glidden, who turned an elapsed time of 8.88 seconds at more than 153 miles per hour down the quarter-mile strip for the win. Shafter's time was nine seconds at a speed of more than 152 miles an hour.

Bus to Belleville

The Warrior Boost Club of GCHS South will provide bus transportation to Belleville for fans wishing to attend the South-Belleville West football contest which begins at 8 p.m. Friday.

A $1 per person charge for the round trip is necessary and does not include price of admission to the game. The bus will depart from the school's Madison Avenue parking lot at 6:30 p.m.

3 Rascal games

Three Granite City Little Rascals boys' football games are on tap this Sunday—two at home and one away.

Here at GCHS South Field at 1:30 p.m., Midget North will host Wood River; at 3 p.m., the Junior Pee Wees will host Collinsville.

Midget Central will be at Collinsville for a 3 p.m. contest.

6-2 North defeat

The soph gridders of GCHS North are now 4-2 on the season after losing 6-2 Monday at Bethalto. North's two points came on a fourth-quarter safety provided by Bruce Jateff and Leo Pelek.

STATE GIRLS' TENNIS QUALIFIER

Miss Robin Deterding, a junior at GCHS South, will compete this weekend at Arlington Heights, Ill., in singles competition with representatives of each of the state's 30 district meets, plus qualifiers from the Chicago Public League meet. She qualified for the state finals by her runnerup finish in the GCHS South district meet, behind Cahokia's Dana Hawkins. Miss Deterding won three straight matches before being decided by Miss Hawkins for the championship.

8 from here in cross-country sectional meet

Eight Granite City harriers will compete at 11 a.m. Saturday at Jacksonville's three-mile, grassy cross-country course in the Illinois High School Association (IHSA) boys' cross-country sectional meet in an attempt to qualify for state finals at Peoria on Nov. 2.

The eight local runners are Mike Baker of North High and South's barrier team—Dwayne Terry, Jim Hall, Frank Holmes, Randy Presswood, Greg Ahlers, Sam Nesbitt and Don Meagher. All qualified for the Jacksonville sectional by their performances Tuesday in the three-mile district meet on Alton's Rock Springs Park course.

They will compete at the sectional with qualifiers from the Quincy and Springfield districts.

Only the top 10 individuals and members of the top five teams at the district level earned the right to advance to sectional competition.

Warrior Dwayne Terry, who last Friday set a new record of 14 minutes and 56 seconds on the Alton course to capture the 1974 Southwestern Conference meet, headed his teammates with a time of 15:40 and a sixth-place individual finish, helping earn South fifth place with 120 points.

Aiding the Warrior effort also were: Hall 25th, 16:31; Holmes 27th, 16:32; Presswood 29th, 16:45; Ahlers 33rd, 16:50; Nesbitt 36th, 16:54; and Meagher 69th, 18:10.

North host Friday to talented DeSmet team

With the Steelers of Granite City High School North knocking on the door of an undefeated season with a 9-0 record and three games remaining on their schedule, football coach Tom Wyrostek says, "We are there; we just have to do the job now."

The Steelers are vying to be considered as one of 15 teams selected as at-large entrants in the state's first Class AA-enrollment football playoffs.

A strong contender thus far, North would like to solidify that with a victory at home at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the expense of DeSmet High School of Missouri.

To qualify as a possible playoff entry, a school must have a final record winning percentage of 80 or better and must play a minimum of eight games prior to the weekend of Nov. 13.

Wyrostek theorizes that "if we lose the next two, we don't make it." After DeSmet, North must face Mattoon, last year's Big 12 Conference champion.

"But," he adds, "I don't want to talk a week ahead of myself."

"Right now we are facing a good club with good size speed and talent."

A member of the Bi-State Conference, DeSmet has a 3-2 record, having defeated Webster Groves 18-0, Assumption 14-6 and CBC 34-15. Its losses were 17-14 to Ritenour and 29-22 to River View.

DeSmet sports an all-state tight end, Ray Vollmer, who last year was the team's top pass receiver and against CBC caught 16 of Quarterback Tom McCarthy's aeriels for three touchdowns.

McCarthy, a 5-10, 160-pound senior, has hit on 50 per cent of his passing attempts.

"I feel our strongest point lies in our defense," comments DeSmet assistant coach Greg Vitello.

"Our defense tries to take away what a team does best. In North's case, it will be its running game -- cross-backs and sweeps."

"Our best bet," adds Vitello, "is to stop Mike Doneff, Lenny Wright and Larry Schleicher."

McCarthy, 6-1, 185-pound senior, is the leading rusher with 98 carries for 493 yards and five touchdowns.

Wright, 5-11, 171-pound senior, heads North's point-making with 67, including seven touchdowns.

Schleicher, 6-0, 161-pound junior, is the leading pass receiver with 11 for 296 yards and two TDs.

"North," remarks the DeSmet assistant coach, "is a well coached club which leaves an opposing team no avenue for concentrating on any one game plan."

"I've seen North play four times this season, and was impressed with the overall execution. They keep an opposing school alert by mixing up the attack."

To date, the Steelers have outscored foes 175-53 and racked up 1,210 yards on the ground. Quarterback Gene Logas is 46 of 84 in the air, totaling 766 yards.

"We are in good shape physically," says Wyrostek, "with the exception of Keith Lucas, one of our guards."

Lucas, 5-9, 195-pound senior, was injured last week and will miss tomorrow's game due to a badly bruised back muscle.

Vitello commented, "The attitude of our players is good even knowing that North is undefeated."

"They want to win just as badly as North does."

South at West; injuries factor

When the Warriors of Granite City South meet Belleville West at 8 p.m. tomorrow on the Maroons' field, both South mentor Stan Wojcik and West Coach Bruce Arnold expect the clash to be a new kind of confrontation as compared to past years.

"They (West)," comments Wojcik, "have completely changed their offense from the I-olot that we met last year in a 14-14 tie."

"And they have one of the better quarterbacks in the area in Rusty Lisch."

Lisch, a 190-pound senior, last year passed for 983 yards and rushed for 536 in leading the Maroons to second place in the conference standings. West's attack is now built almost entirely around the signal caller.

He has completed 60 per cent of his passes thus far to net a little more than 600 yards.

"He is especially important to us," says Arnold, "since we have been hit with a multitude of injuries."

West has lost its defensive middle guard and its entire starting backfield except for Lisch and senior Eddie Holdener, 6-1 and 165.

The Belleville team is 3-4 on the season (2-3) in conference play, while South is 0-7 overall and 0-5 in the league.

West has defeated Assumption 37-8 and Cahokia 22-0 and went into double overtime to nip Edwardsville 35-34.

The Warriors have met Cahokia and Edwardsville also, nearly defeating both. South lost to Cahokia 12-7 and to Edwardsville 14-12.

"Granite City," says Arnold "can be deceiving with its record and lure a team into a sense of false security."

South, hungry for its first win of the season, has the ability to put the rush on an opposing quarterback and force him out of the pocket to hurry his passing game.

The West mentor views South as also dangerous coming out of the backfield.

The Warrior rushing attack includes Paul Mushill, 5-7, 178-pound senior, with 329 yards in 77 carries; Frank Barunica, 5-8, 170-pound junior, with 238 on 86 runs; and Tom Schooley, 6-3, 179-pound senior, with 118 yards from 20 carries.

Schooley also has been on the receiving end of 19 of Quarterback Kirk Champion's passes for a gain of 224 yards and two touchdowns. End Ray Smith has pulled in 11 for 145 yards and three touchdowns.

Champion has hit on 42 per cent for 544 yards and seven touchdowns in spite of being only 5-7, short for a 1974 era quarterback.

Junior Doug Hartman is the squad's leading rusher with 52. Keith Moran and Brian Wilson each have 35, Greg Terrell 31 and Mark Greenwald 23.

Terrell, hurt this weekend in a contest with Alton, is recovering from a knee injury but is a doubtful starter for tomorrow's game.

The Warriors have nearly matched opposing teams thus far: South earned 63 first downs to opponent's 72; 659-126 in yards of rushing; 544-394 in aerial yardage; 50-28 pass completions; 14-24 on fumbles and 8-12 fumbles lost; and 292-330 in yards penalized.

"We are going to have to control the ball, execute perfectly and have no break-downs," says Wojcik.

"The boys are mentally up for the game," he adds. "Now we have to try and get the job done."

League soccer title to South

Granite City High School South soccer Warriors became the 1974 Southwestern Conference champions Monday night at Collinsville after downing the Kahoks 1-0 in the final regular season game of the season.

The victory, earned on Charles Bennington's 30th goal of the season, gave South its 13th straight victory and an undefeated record (6-0) in conference play. South is 15-2-1 overall.

Collinsville was conference runnerup with a 4-2 record. It could have tied South at 5-1 if it had won Monday.

Cahokia finished third and Alton fourth.

Warrior mentor Gene Baker feels the conference competition was so successful in its first attempt that Belleville West and East and East St. Louis may join next year.

Bennington's goal came three minutes into the initial quarter on an assist by Rick Becherer. The latter had shot at Collinsville's net from 18 yards away but the goalkeeper made a diving save before the ball slipped out of his hands.

Bennington rushed in and pushed the ball into the net for the score.

Baker complimented the Kahok goalie for having prevented five Warrior scoring attempts—two off the foot of Teno Valencia.

CHARLES BENNINGTON

South's defense held the enemy in check with brothers Mark and Ronnie Goldschmidt heading the effort in holding Collinsville to only 10 shots on goal. Warrior Keith Kibort saved five of the scoring attempts. South took 18 shots.

Each side committed 14 fouls and South had four corner kicks to the Kahok's two.

Trojans visit rugged Knights

Madison High School has two football games remaining on its schedule, at 8 p.m. tomorrow with Mater Dei at Breese and at home next weekend against Sparta.

Both Madison and the Knights of Mater Dei have 1-6 records.

Mater Dei's lone win, a 21-12 over Triad. The Knights lost 36-14 to Mascoutah, 20-13 to Greenville, 7-2 to Centralia, 34-22 to GCHS North, 41-7 to Belleville Althoff and 52-0 to Marquette of Alton.

Mater Dei, despite its record could be tough to beat. It mixes up its game by constantly changing quarterbacks.

Terry Hipas, a 5-10, 145-pound senior, normally starts the action. Coach Howard Sutter then replaces him with Dave Schneider, a 5-11, 150-pound junior, in an attempt to break up the enemy's concentration.

Mater Dei is a dangerous club in the air, as the GCHS North Steelers discovered when Hipas hit End Marvin Hubbard, 5-9, 155-pound senior, with a 27-yard touchdown pass.

Senior Paul Jaeger, 5-10, 170-pound senior, Tom Delers, 5-10, 155-pound senior, and Phil Becker, 6-0, 170-pound senior, are the Knights' main carriers on the ground.

The five-man defensive line ranges in weight from 170 to 250 pounds and in height from 5-9 to 6-4. Middle Guard Ted Guinzy is the mainstay at six feet and 250 pounds.

After defeating Dupu 24-14 for its first victory since 1972, Madison last weekend lost 34-8 to Assumption.

"We didn't play bad football against Assumption," noted Trojan mentor Al Vonder Haar.

"We were inside the 20-yard-line six times and just couldn't push it across. It was us, not Assumption, responsible for the loss."

Although Madison has a strong running and passing game, 11 pass interceptions, 28 fumbles and 67 penalties for 515 yards have hurt the Trojan effort.

Senior Joe Young has picked up 462 yards in 92 carries of Madison's 1,080 total rushing gain. He also leads in tackles with 63.

Junior Quarterback Mike Woods is eight of 30 in the air for 152 yards. Senior Kevin Werner is Madison's most frequent receiver, having pulled down 18 passes for 305 yards.

Madison has scored all of its points on the ground. Young has four touchdowns. Senior Mike Stanley three and Sophomore Pete Pecurka, one.

"This late in the season," concludes Vonder Haar, "it's too late to change anything. We just have to work on consistency."

Tax vote

fourth proposal to increase the educational fund tax rate to be brought before voters in the past year and a half.

The district first sought approval of a $1.20 rate increase on June 30, 1973, but was turned down by voters in a 239 "no" to 35 "yes" vote.

A proposed 80-cent tax rate hike was defeated 250 "no" to 211 "yes" in December 1973 and a third vote, after a 80-cent increase, was defeated 345 to 201 in March.

If approved, the educational fund tax rate will increase to $2.55 per $100 assessed valuation. The last rate increase approved by Granite City voters was in 1969 when a 40-cent hike was voted.

From the $2.55 figure, an additional $161,461 would be raised, if a 100 per cent collection is obtained. However, the higher tax rate would enable the district to borrow more than $400,000 on tax anticipation warrants, it was explained.

Banks have limited the school district to 80 per cent of its taxing power, rather than the full 75 per cent allowable under state law. Under the present $2.00 rate, the Venice district cannot borrow the $460,000 needed to keep Venice schools operating.

Through the remainder of the school year, school officials said.

"It is essential that the people understand how serious the financial situation is in the district and approved the tax rate increase on Friday to keep our schools alive," Tolliver said.

The board approved the appointment of six election judges at Monday night's meeting. Judges to serve at the Eagle Park hall will be Clyde Warren, Bernice Jones and Lee Etta Cotton. Those hired for the Venice Recreation Center will be Dorothy Koelker, Fay Smith and Bernice Daniels.

ment, six feet in height and not less than four feet away from the edge of the track.

Another section calls for an insurance policy which meets with state approval as to the extent of risks covered and the amount of liability provided.

Rep. Flinn admits that in its present form the proposal is restrictive "in that it gives the department great powers to regulate the motorsport industry."

He cited section eight as an example: "The rules and regulations shall prescribe the types or character of protective devices designed to protect participants in and spectators attending any such race or exhibition, including, but not limited to—"

"Matters of track construction and condition, guard rails, pit facilities, lighting, inspection of vehicles and equipment, physical conditions of drivers, fire protection and medical and ambulance facilities and generally governing the conduct of all motor vehicle races and exhibitions of motor vehicle driving skill to be held within this state."

"The bill," he said, "does not specify what a safe track is and gives the state authority to inspect and decide whether a track is safe enough."

Rep. Flinn said his proposal has been purposely drawn up on this form in hopes that it will be thought-provoking and draw input from the public and from those involved with the sport.

"Any industry that polices itself," he remarked, "has the say about what are the rules. When you get a government body involved, whether it be state, city or national, sometimes you get people without knowledge of the sport involved in making the rules."

"That is why I'm asking people who are interested in safety to voice their views as to what should be done to make the tracks safer. At the same time, we need to protect racing. Let it continue and let the people enjoy the sport."

Granite City's William Guth, president of the St. Louis Auto Racing Fan Club, comments, "There are probably some tracks that are not safe, but I think the companies which insure those tracks should enforce the safety requirements. Any track not complying wouldn't have races."

Agent from the Land Speed Insurers' Agency in Kansas City said three main safety measures are required by his company—a guard rail separating the track from spectators, a fence separating spectators from the rail and a distance of at least 30 feet between the two barriers. He said St. Louis International on Route 203 south of Madison, has all three.

Ed Bloom, promoter of racing at Tri-City Speedway, feels the safety rules of the agency providing insurance are adequate.

He cited a reconstruction measure after a late model stock car last year climbed on top of the concrete guard railing and nearly flattened a fence protecting grandstand spectators.

An addition to the concrete barrier has heightened it by three feet and it is now 16 inches thick.

The retaining fence was redesigned to catch a racing car and throw it back onto the track, preventing it from falling inward toward the grandstands.

Both St. Louis International and Tri-City provide personnel with fire extinguishers, ambulances, trained medical personnel and security guards.

St. Louis International's fence separating spectators from the grandstand is not six feet high at present and Tri-City Speedway does not have a barrier for persons in its infield area, other than personnel in the judges' and announcers' stand, officials said.

Standard time returns Sunday

Quid-Cityans were reminded today to turn back their clocks one hour before retiring Saturday night to comply with the new regulation ending Daylight Saving Time for the next four months.

Daylight time officially will end at 2 a.m. Sunday and will be replaced on Feb. 25, 1975, by standard time.

The change is made under a bill signed by President Ford, amending a law passed in 1973 that established year-around daylight saving time as an energy-saving measure.

With Spalding of Ponton Park, a three-time late model stock car track champion, thinks that "more strict safety checks of race cars should be made. But, I think that should be left to the track officials should enforce it."

Robin Lowery of St. Louis, secretary of the Gateway Auto Racing Association, says he looks at this thing with mixed emotions.

"I've worked in the state of New Jersey since the early 1950s and it can work here—if it is done right."

"We try to ignore this proposition," added, "it's not going to go away and we are going to end up with something."

"So, consequently, we need to get involved with the sport has to get into it, make his feelings known and work toward a law that we all can live with."

Rep. Flinn concludes that his purpose is not to do away with racing but rather to make it a safer sport to enjoy.

Teacher of year

standing performance two consecutive years. The district invited to join the honorary education organization Kappa Delta Pi. Her bachelor degree was earned in 1968 and master degree in June 1964.

"My summers since grade school have been spent at various summer sessions at various universities," she relates.

"The travels have taken me around the world three times. I've concentrated on visiting schools in a variety of regions, with emphasis on Africa."

"On one African trip, I was made an honorary member of the 'Hassal tribe.' In Kenya, a student I befriended later married and named her first-born girl in my honor. My name was used in a play in Africa and its culture."

She was the first sabbatical leave granted by Venice public schools, I enrolled in Florida State University where I am now a doctoral student in humanities. My area of concentration is African music and culture, particularly the drum.

"At ISU this summer, I will begin work on my dissertation, 'Anthropological Taxonomy of Instrumental Identification Pertains to a Particular Culture (African).'"

Miss Purdes comments, "My interest in Africa and its people together with my long association with multicultural studies in my own hometown and abroad, has led to my desire to study the culture and background of this ethnic group and attempt to bring to light its fascinating heritage."

Her life has been unusually full, including study at the Sorbonne University in Paris, France, and a year as a music supervisor in London, England.

Daughter of the late Joseph Purdes, longtime proprietor of bowling lanes in Madison, she became noted as one of the top bowlers in this region.

Her presentations of travel photo slides are enhanced by authentic music and sounds from the places visited and by fulfilled narrations as described by many as "bringing the scenes to life." Souvenirs and relics from the foreign lands are displayed.

A similar approach is used in her classes to make the instruction understandable. Interestingly, she has long remembered, observers say, impressed by the individualized training she received at ISU. Miss Purdes notes that "I always try to get to know each student's background in hopes that it will give me an understanding of the student. I would like even to be able to visit every home before a first month or two of school has gone by."

"My student teaching at the Illinois Soldiers and Sailors School also showed me how important homes and backgrounds can be."

She recalls that ISU was "far ahead of its time" in such fields as audio-visual techniques and practical application of behavioral objectives.

After retiring from the Sorbonne, she replaces that feeling Paris as a student differs greatly from seeing it as a tourist.

"For the past two weeks, I would look in English, listen in French and comprehend in German. I am now in a new country and soon changed and at graduation time she received a certificate plus an award from the American Ambassador for academic achievement."

At the Sorbonne, she developed admiration for the "dedication to academic life" found there—"Everything centered around the text and class."

"Study at the University of New Mexico was helpful because it is strong in culture and anthropology, both of which I hope to study more. When I am teaching a unit on Indians or West, my experience at UNM has proven valuable."

She continues, "My summer at the University of Illinois turned out to be another study in culture when a number of foreign students were granted to help them with their English lessons. After the Sorbonne, I could sympathize with what they were going through trying to learn a second language."

"This has carried over in my teaching. I am patient and firm. From the Bahamas is still going through social, cultural and emotional adjustment, but if he is patient enough, he'll soon adjust."

"My work at Indiana University was actually done on a campus-at-sea. Day after day was our composer-in-residence on a Greek ship sailing along the coast of Greece and visiting music indigenous to the country."

"It's a terrific way of meeting fine musicians, gaining historical knowledge, learning the music of a particular country and then performing it. Brubeck was composing and lecturing during the entire trip."

Class to donate holiday baskets

Members of Ruth Class of First Baptist Church agreed to donate groceries and canned goods for Thanksgiving baskets for distribution to needy families during the holiday observance at a meeting Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Julia Carmack, 2740 Grandview Avenue.

Mrs. Zandawafy Smolich gave the devotional topic, entitled "The Listener." Mrs. Mildred Popelchak offered the opening prayer, and Mrs. Carmack presided at the business session.

Group captains reported on their contacts and "get well" cards were signed and sent to class members who are ill. Plans were made for a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Popelchak on Dec. 16.

Mrs. Julia McLean, missions chairman, said sewing projects are needed for the nursing home project.

Social hour games were played and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Nellie Moeke and Mrs. Helen Green. Closing prayer was read by Mrs. Mildred Nash.

Also present were Mrs. Ivan Grandstaff and Mrs. Virginia Henry, a guest. The class will meet next at the home of Mrs. Thelma Peterson.

We gave his music a premier performance for the French, Italian and German passengers aboard the ship.

"Teaching Chopin is so much more vivid after having visited Mallorca on this trip, for in a few years before the apartment where Chopin died, and even Poland several years earlier to see his birthplace."

"The main area seen was the Mediterranean. Slides of the Holy Land taken on this trip—taken just before the six-day war—were useful when explaining to fifth graders about recent Arab-Israeli fighting."

She has special report about SUE graduate students from overseas, remarking, "I personally feel compassion for those who have to fight the language problem as well as the course lessons."

Despite the tough most of these students have a certain command of the English language before they are allowed to come to the U.S. to study, many of them still have to read slowly to understand, and listen carefully to grasp our idiomatic expressions.

She adds that "my work with the Venice High School chorus has taken us everywhere from help groups to insurance company banquets."

"My current effort, after six years when I worked strictly with elementary students, will be to perform in Mexico at Chapultepec Park. Though our singing, we hope to foster better relations between students and also enlarge our own cultural background."

Miss Purdes' membership in the United Nations by invitation of Senator J. W. Ashcroft, retiring chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, with whom she has become acquainted.

She is a member of the International Platform Association by invitation of Lowell Thomas.

Active in the Friends of the St. Louis Art Museum, she plans to take fifth graders to visit the museum in the near future as part of Venice schools' field trip program.

She holds membership in the Marjorie Lawrence Opera Theater, Missouri Botanical Gardens, Slavic and East European Friends of SUE, St. Louis Numismatic Association, American Association of University Women, American Choral Directors Association, Music Educators National Conference and Women's International Bowling Congress 600 Club.

Miss Purdes has set up an anonymous award for foreign students studying in the U.S., and has arranged for a fellowship to be granted to Venice High graduates. She holds membership in St. Mary's Catholic Church, Madison.

Her weekends for the past five years have been spent caring for and tutoring in music for her nieces, aged five, nine and 11. The two youngest are enrolled in the Suzuki violin method.

And her "spare time," the busy teacher has undertaken a wide assortment of other tasks, including writing a song for use in a school-at-sea Day of the Sea performance.

The Venice team name is the Red Devils, and the composition for a young boy is entitled, "I'm a Little Devil." But Mrs. Purdes doesn't regard any of her class members as devils—little or big.

followed by the benediction from Rev. Pierson.

Those attending will be in front of the 165,000 square foot building which cost $3,300,000 to build, not including furnishings. The cost was $202,000 for the city. The building rests on a 60-acre plot of ground.

Refreshments will be served during the open house in the school cafeteria.

The program for the dedication includes the following quote from the student handbook given to each North pupil as he began school there:

"This was built for you. This is your school, given to you by the earnest work and sacrifice of your parents, grandparents and all of the citizens of this school district. It is our wish that you will recognize the sacrifice and love that made this school possible and show those who extend this gift that it was a wise investment."

salary from the county and still receive unemployment benefits if they were laid off from regular jobs. Under a per diem plan, they could receive both, some members said.

Voting against Heil's plan were Homer Boothman of Collinsville, Wayne Bridgwater of Roxana, Carl Buehler of Granite City, Albert Doer of South Roxana, H. Jack Franden of Alhambra, J. J. Franden of Highland, Charles Killinger of Collinsville, William L. Little of Alton, Jay Maurer of Venice, Heertje van der Ven of Granite City, "Cooper" Moore of Madison, Paul Reinhold of Troy, Frances Roberts of Alton, Edward Walters of Alton and George Walter of Godfrey.

Those voting in favor of the $6,000 salary plan were Sibyl Belliss of East Alton, Charles Bode of Edwardsville, Roger Elble and Robert Ford Jr., of Wood River, James Greene of East Alton, Homer Henke of Moro, Hayes Mallory of Edwardsville, Mrs. Alton May of Alton, Michael Semanish of Maryville.

The board also voted to retain mileage reimbursement to members using their own cars in business at 15 cents per mile.

A resolution, also introduced by Heil, was adopted, stating when private cars may be used and setting maximum expenses for mileage, and for other expenses to travel, lodging and meals while on business.

The board voted to increase the salaries of the county clerk and treasurer from the present $17,000 a year to $22,000 per year, effective Dec. 2 when those elected next month take office.

The Finance Committee recommended the salaries of the three be increased to $21,000 per month, but Mallory introduced an amendment increasing that to $22,000.

Mallory noted the salaries of those offices had not been changed for four years and that the county salaries were in effect another four years before they could be increased.

These are full-time dedicated people and they deserve this raise," he said, referring to Sheriff John Maeras and Treasurer George W. Bowles, both of whom are seeking re-election.

Miss Eulalia Hotz, county clerk, is retiring and Miss Evelyn Bowles, her deputy assistant, is opposed for election to that office.

Ford commented he did not feel the sheriff should make as much money as the other two officials since the county provides him with living quarters and does not do so for the others.

The sheriff also receives an automobile from the county. Ford earlier in the meeting failed in an attempt to have the sheriff's quarters removed from plans for a new county jail.

Sheriff Maeras was defended by several board members who said he is a difficult job and that being forced to live in one place may not be as desirable as selecting and paying for a home of his own.

Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City chided Ford for making statements against Sheriff Maeras throughout the meeting and said, "I feel there is some reason we have been unreasonable about this. Hagnauer said his longtime friend with Maeras "has nothing to do with this. He's not doing the bidding (the discussion)," and Hagnauer promptly gavelled for a vote, failing to recognize other board members who rose to speak on the issue.

The raises passed on a 21-6 vote with Ford, Mrs. Belliss, Greene and Heil voting against them.

city could go part of the grading work.

Ford, on suggestions by council members, asked City Engineer Monroe Brewer to make another estimate of cost based on the city doing the grading. He asked also that the estimate cover construction from Ponton Road to 22nd Street rather than ending it at 24th Street.

Boyd also told the council that the Street and Alley Committee had reduced to three the number of engineering firms from which a selection will be made to conduct a feasibility study for location of the proposed overpass.

He said the committee expects to make a recommendation to the council, probably within a week, as to which firm should be hired to make a study.

The study would determine whether the underpass should be located at 19th, 20th, 22nd street or Nidringham Avenue.

Mayor Paul Schuler announced that applications have been filed for a grant from the State Road and Bridge Grant Separation agency through the Illinois Commerce Commission to aid in construction of the overpass.

The city also is seeking aid for the overpass job through the Federal Aid to Urban Systems program.

Schuler said he is confident Granite City can finance the overpass project. "If the city of Venice can build a grade separation, I'm sure Granite City can get one," the mayor said.

The plan for county aid in financing the Maryville Road project has been discussed with some council members by members of the Right of Way Committee of the Madison County Board.

Madison County which is doing the planning and will handle construction of the project, has completed purchase of most of the right-of-way needed for the county section of the project.

William Webb of Granite City, chairman of the Right of Way Committee, says the county needs to obtain only a few pieces of right-of-way before proceeding with construction.

Under the original planning in 1970, the Maryville Road extension, which would provide a four-lane highway from Ponton Road to Highway 162 near south and help ease traffic congestion in the Nameoki area, was estimated to cost about $2 million. Maryville's share of the cost with Highway 203 on the north.

In 1970 the city's share of the cost was estimated at $350,000, while the cost of the right-of-way.

Because of a sharp rise in construction costs over the past four years, the project now is expected to cost in excess of $3.5 million and the city's share has been increased to $720,000 to $800,000.

The increased cost halted city progress on the road extension project because of multiple contributions from the city, motor fuel tax fund and a low balance in the account over the past two years.

Nearly two years ago, Granite City agreed to a plan by which the state deducted $100,000 a month of the city's motor fuel tax allotments to pay off a $246,000 debt which the city owed as its share of the widening and improvement of Nameoki Road, also a four-lane thoroughfare. That debt will be retired in February.

The city receives from $35,000 to $40,000 a month in motor fuel tax fees.

With the retirement of the Nameoki Road debt, some city officials feel the city would be able to pay a certain amount each month toward its cost of the Maryville Road job.

Schuler said the county's offer provides that Granite City would pay as much as it possibly could from its motor fuel tax account toward its share of construction cost.

When construction debts exceeded the city's ability to pay, he added, the county would assume a difficult job and motor fuel tax accounts and the city then would repay the county as funds became available.

The mayor said that the plan is being considered and that the city is proceeding now with effort to obtain the right-of-way needed for the city's section of the project.

He noted that there are a number of details yet to be worked out and that such an arrangement between the city and county would require approval of agreements by both the City Council and Madison County Board.

Washington tops Chicago wrongs in voters' minds

By KEN WATSON
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

Illinois Republicans have a special reason to be bitter about Watergate.

If it wasn't for that monumental mess, GOP candidates in this state could be benefitting in the current campaign from an unprecedented flow of scandal from the Chicago Democratic machine.

This month has seen the conviction of Mayor Richard J. Daley's top associate, Alderman Thomas E. Keane, on charges of mail fraud and conspiracy.

The conviction of another prominent Daley Democrat, Alderman Paul T. Wigoda, for failing to report a $50,000 bribe on his income tax.

These two convictions were only the latest in a long string which includes the jailing of former Gov. Otto Kerner in the race track stock affair, and the conviction of Cook County Clerk and onetime Secretary of State Edward J. Barrett on charges of accepting $180,000 in bribes from a voting machine company.

Ordinarily such a train of events would arouse the voters of Chicago, suburban Cook County and Downstate Illinois in droves. But not this year. The latest outbreak of all too familiar Illinois scandal is being accepted by Illinoisans with a "Ho-hum, what else is new?" attitude.

Republican senatorial candidate George Burditt has tried to cite the Democratic scandals as a campaign issue, but has gotten nowhere. As is the case so often in this strange campaign year of 1974, the voters just don't seem to be listening. Can it be that scandal has become so much a part of Illinois political life over the years that people have come to accept it?

Downstate, in particular, have taken it for granted that the city government of Chicago is a hotbed of corruption.

Convictions by brilliant U.S. Attorney James R. Thompson of state, county and city public officials have added strong substance to what before was mostly speculation.

But nobody seems to be worked up about it. The reason unquestionably must be Watergate. This is a scandal so vast-reaching the top pinnacle of American government, the Presidency itself—that all other governmental scandal seems insignificant by comparison.

A crooked Chicago politician is one thing; a lying and disgraced leader of the United States is another.

Ironically, the Chicago scandals when viewed against Watergate background may actually have helped the Democrats in Illinois this year.

It is frequently pointed out that Richard Nixon is supported, chiefly by taxpayers' money, in luxurious retirement while popular former governor

Kerner is in a federal prison. The press, television and radio coverage of the current top-level White House Watergate defendants is a regular reminder of what transpired in the White House and Washington. How can anyone become aroused about the conviction of a Chicago political hack?

If corruption in government is again to be a meaningful issue in Illinois politics, it will probably be apparent in next year's mayoral election in Chicago. It is possible that this issue could become the catalyst that will destroy the Daley machine.

Sewer line contract let Ordinances approving annexation of 31 residential properties in Dream Villa subdivisions and award of a contract for construction of a sanitary sewer extension through the area were approved by the Granite City Council Monday night.

The contract award went to the C. D. Peters Construction Co. of Granite City on a bid of $45,664 for installation of 2,883 feet of sanitary sewer which eventually will connect 57 homes in the Dream Villa area to the city's sewer system.

Construction of the sewer main will be financed by residents of the area who have approved the issuance of bonds to pay for the work.

The sewer line is to begin in the alley between Emert and Gary avenues and will run east and west from Edgewood Avenue to Johnson Road. It will extend southward along Johnson Road to the first alleyway where it will turn south for two lots before connecting with an existing Granite City sewer.

The new sewer will have 60 sections for taps from homes and most of these are expected to be hooked up immediately. To use the Granite City sewers, residents of the area were required to annex to the city.

Annexation procedures have been under way for the past several months, including the action taken by the City Council Monday night.

In addition to annexations already approved, the council received applications from the owners of three properties for annexation to the city.

These included Eugene and Virginia Nichols, 3308 Gary Ave.; William T. and Carol Hopper, 2312 Gary Ave., and Milford and Dorothy Talley, 2529 Gary Ave. All were referred to the City Plan Commission for a recommendation.

The council also received Monday night a permit by the state Environmental Protection Agency for construction of the sewer line.

The annexations approved by the council Monday night were listed in two ordinances enacted by the aldermen.

GC officials to convention

Members of the Granite City Council and some city department heads will attend the four-day convention of the Illinois Municipal League in Chicago Friday through Monday.

The Granite City Council Monday night approved expenses of $400 for each alderman who attends the meeting, as well as Mayor Paul Schuler, City Attorney George Filleff, City Clerk Robert Stevens, Street Superintendent Lionel Portell and City Treasurer Paul Rutledge.

Rutledge, however, said he does not plan to attend.

Because the convention sessions will continue through Monday, next week's City Council meeting has been scheduled for Tuesday night instead of Monday.

Park to issue IDs Saturday

The Granite City Park District will issue identification cards to district residents from 9 a.m. until noon Saturday at Wilson Park ice rink. No future dates for ID issuances have been set at the present time, Harold Brown, park superintendent, said today.

Proof of residency within the park district boundaries is required before ID cards are assigned, Brown said. Those applying may present a receipted utility bill, or similar "up-to-date" document, he added.

The plasticized cards cost 75 cents and entitle the holder to reduced rates in park district programs including ice skating.

Judge Beatty seeks retention on Nov. 5

William L. Beatty of Granite City currently completing a six-year term as a circuit judge, is running for retention of his office in the Nov. 5 election. There are no opposing candidates under this state's retention procedure.

A graduate of the St. Louis University School of Law, Judge Beatty practiced law in Granite City for 17 years prior to being elected to his present position in 1968.

He served as chief judge of the Third Judicial Circuit, which includes both Madison and Bond Counties, during 1971 and 1972.

His principal judicial work has been in the area of civil litigation. He presided over or disposed of 186 major jury cases in the past year.

Since the adoption of the new Judicial Act of the Illinois

Constitution in 1964, judges are elected under a party label for their first term in office. If they desire a subsequent term, they must run unopposed on a non-partisan ballot, popularly known as the green ballot. Candidates for retention must receive a majority of 60 per cent "yes" votes to retain their office.

Beatty ran for his initial six-year term as a Democrat. In a recent poll taken by the Illinois State Bar Association, the attorneys in Madison and Bond Counties recommended that Judge Beatty be retained in office.

Such polls are conducted as a public service by the Bar Association each time a state judge is running for retention or a candidate is seeking a judicial position.

More protection promised

Increased police protection for children going to and from school was promised by Madison City officials to a delegation of parents Tuesday night during an informal discussion following the regular Madison council meeting.

"We are ready and willing to help in any way we can," Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk told the group of six parents. The mayor said the police department has increased the number of patrols, but said he would "appreciate persons calling the police and when something is going on... We need the help of the eyes and ears of our citizens."

A complaint about cars speeding through alleys on Edwardsville Road and eighth-grade children congregating in alleys was made. Mayor Sasyk assured the group the police will take steps to correct the situation.

During the council session, the aldermen approved a resolution that Madison participate in the rural-urban community development program under which $7 million will be made available to the county for distributions to cities working out community development projects.

To obtain the grant, municipalities having a total population of 200,000 or more persons must join in the program and prepare a definite program of improvements.

For the first time in 52 years, the chairman and vice-chairmen of the 22 Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children will gather to spend two days in a seminar and meeting called by Hospital Board of Trustees Chairman Harvey Belfa, past imperial, potentate, past potentate of Moah Temple of St. Louis, and a member of the Imperial Hospital Board of Trustees for many years.

The gathering will start this evening with a get-together at the new Breckenridge Hotel on Lindbergh Blvd. near the hospital. Those heading the boards in the various hospitals will be there from Hawaii, Mexico, Canada and the U.S.

Three of the hospitals are burn centers, while the other 19 are orthopedic.

Also attending will be W. W. Bennett, deputy imperial potentate, of Kansas City, Mo., who will be acting in behalf of Imperial Potentate Jack M. Streight of New Westminster, British Columbia, Canada.

The first session will be at 9 a.m. Friday in the auditorium of the Shriners Hospital, St. Louis Unit, 2001 South Lindbergh.

Vice-Chairman William Chapman of the St. Louis Unit will give the address of welcome because the recent illness of Chairman J. E. Williams will not allow him to participate.

The service of the hospital for the children is free if they fit in the burns or orthopedic category and if they are less than 16 years of age. There is no place on the admission sheet where it asks the race or religion of the child; after the child is accepted, he can follow his own religion through the various services held at the hospital.

The school at each hospital also continues the child's education while he is taking treatment.

Although the first plan of the present hospitals was that they would be a home for friendless, orphaned and crippled children, in June 1920 before the hospitals were ever started, it was decided to limit them to crippled children.

They were first referred to as the "Temple of Baby Smiles," and the first hospital was opened in 1922 in Shreveport, La. St. Louis opened its original hospital in April 1924, and before the one now occupied in 1967.

With nearly a million Shriners paying a $5 hospital levy each year with their dues, another $26 million is needed to pay the hospital cost. This comes from gifts, bequests, football games, circuses and many other forms of entertainment.

Operational programming, public relations, controller office procedures and patient recruitment are among the subjects that will be discussed at the first event of its kind in the history of the hospitals. The final phase of the program will be on Saturday, when Past Imperial C. Victor Thornton presents each hospital its budget for 1975.

The budget passed at the Imperial Council Session in July calls for $31 million for the current year. Every year it has shown an increase. All of the money is raised by the Shriners; none comes from the government, state or county, or from insurance of any kind.

The final phase of the program will be on Saturday, when Past Imperial C. Victor Thornton presents each hospital its budget for 1975.

The budget passed at the Imperial Council Session in July calls for $31 million for the current year. Every year it has shown an increase. All of the money is raised by the Shriners; none comes from the government, state or county, or from insurance of any kind.

category and if they are less than 16 years of age. There is no place on the admission sheet where it asks the race or religion of the child; after the child is accepted, he can follow his own religion through the various services held at the hospital.

The school at each hospital also continues the child's education while he is taking treatment.

Although the first plan of the present hospitals was that they would be a home for friendless, orphaned and crippled children, in June 1920 before the hospitals were ever started, it was decided to limit them to crippled children.

They were first referred to as the "Temple of Baby Smiles," and the first hospital was opened in 1922 in Shreveport, La. St. Louis opened its original hospital in April 1924, and before the one now occupied in 1967.

With nearly a million Shriners paying a $5 hospital levy each year with their dues, another $26 million is needed to pay the hospital cost. This comes from gifts, bequests, football games, circuses and many other forms of entertainment.

Venice conference days set

Parent-teacher conference days at Venice schools on Nov. 21 and March 2 were approved at a meeting Monday evening of the Venice School Board.

The program, instituted for the first time last year in the Venice School District, requires classes to be dismissed for a half-day period and is subject to approval by the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, Venice Supt. of Schools Robert N. Vickers informed the board.

The conferences permit parents to visit the schools for individual consultations with faculty members. It was explained.

Mrs. Grattana Ponce, a Venice teacher present at the board session, said she believed the program was effective and about 75 per cent of her students and parents participated last year.

Board members agreed to accept a collection of books and a nameplate for placement in the Venice High School library from Al DeLay, a faculty member. The gift will be donated in memory of the teacher's late father, Mr. Dean Jackson DeLay, who died recently.

A $20.50 check from the Granite City Jayettes to purchase a library book in Mr. DeLay's memory also was accepted. It was reported the son is an active member and former officer in the Granite City Jayettes.

A contract was awarded to Larry Smith to patch and paint 12 rooms in the high school building at a cost of $2,500, with the district furnishing the materials.

Also granted was a contract to Granite Sheet Metal Works, Inc., to repair and replace guttering and downspouts on a member. The bid of $742. The latter contract is subject to a bid correction involving a recently discovered section of damaged guttering. A higher bid from the Burlingame Construction Co. included the additional work, the board was advised.

It was reported that Board President Jack R. Tolliver and Board Attorney Lawrence Hartman were among a small group of volunteers who painted the district's special education center.

A potato mixer no longer needed by the district was approved for sale to the Concordia Lutheran Laymen's League on a bid of $51.05.

Requests approved for use of Venice district gymnasiums for basketball were submitted by St. Mark's Parochial School, Venice Athletic Club and Ken Perkins, a Venice grade school coach.

Supt. Vickers said Perkins is forming a junior varsity level team of players from Venice, Madison and Granite City to help condition the Venice varsity players and play informal games.

The board turned down a request to pay mileage expenses for basketball officials. The district currently pays $22.50 per game to referees and the fee is comparable to most schools of equivalent size.

Vickers explained.

Tolliver and Board Member William Fechte were selected as delegate and alternate, respectively, to the Illinois Association of School Boards' convention at the Palmer House, Chicago, Nov. 23 to Nov. 25.

The board also voted to permit all members to attend the convention and agreed to pay $150 per person toward expenses.

A final tax payment, amounting to $47,372, has been received and was assigned to the educational fund, with the sum of $1,210 then transferred to the Title II fund.

It was agreed to invest an additional $3,000 from the special education building fund in time certificates. A total of $87,000, presently invested from the same fund, produced $1,440 in interest, Donald Phillips, board treasurer, reported.

In other action the board authorized purchases totaling $1,486 for Venice-Lincoln Technical Center, supplies costing $2,043 for the Title VII reading and math program and voted to seek bids for replacement of the stage curtains in the gymnasium.

Payment of bills from the educational fund amounted to $14,482 and included $4,871, general expenses, $3,638, lunch bills, and $6,610 to Granite City and Madison school districts for expenses of Venice students attending special education classes in those communities.

Vickers said a total of $12,115 has been received from the Madison and Granite City districts for students in Trainable Mentally Handicapped (TMH) classes at Venice.

National town meet at Old State Capitol

The eyes of the nation will be focused on Springfield's historic Old State Capitol Sunday as National Educational Television's "National Town Meeting" program is telecast live and nationwide from the building's stately Hall of Representatives.

In this chamber, where U. S. Senate candidate Abraham Lincoln delivered his famous "house divided" speech in 1858, two public figures will present opinions and answer questions on this week's forum topic, "Washington as Viewed from the Heartland."

William K. Alderfer, Illinois state historian, announced today that the public is being invited to attend Sunday's telecast and to join in questioning the panelists. The program will begin at 3:30 p.m.

Guests on Sunday's program will include Mrs. Phyllis Schlafly, a CBS network commentator and author of the 1963 book, "A Choice, Not an Echo."

She has been active in opposing the proposed Equal Rights Amendment to the U. S. Constitution. She is now working on a book about Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. She and her attorney husband and six children live in Alton.

Also participating will be Newton N. Minow, former chairman of the Federal Communications Commission. He was a law partner of former Illinois Governor Adlai E. Stevenson and now practices law in Chicago.

Representing the press on the National Town Meeting panel will be Neil Meher, political correspondent for the Chicago Tribune, and Jerome Watson, a Chicago Sun-Times political correspondent.

Richard Corbin, principal of Madison High School, spoke at the Madison Rotary Club's Wednesday noon meeting in the Madison Recreation Center and reviewed this month's unrest at the high school.

He said the students, teachers, board, parents and administration are working well together to solve the problems of the school.

The principal told the Rotarians he was pleased at the way parents are volunteering their services to help at the school. Corbin noted that police were called to help protect the rights of students who wanted to go to school.

Classes were dismissed for a day due to student arguments but then were scheduled to proceed without interruption.

Charles Steptoe, Belleville Area College representative for the Madison school district, reported there are 119 adults in evening classes, 14 in auto mechanics and also a class at the Busy Bee Bakery in cake decorating.

Steptoe announced that registration for credit courses will be held at Madison High on Dec. 9 and registration for general studies classes will be held Dec. 16.

Student advisory board members attending the club meeting were Judy Gordy, Linda Glasper, Phyllis Tyler and Joan Hollenbeck. Miss Tyler said the MHS problem was started by "just a few students."

A general discussion on Rotary activities will be held next week.

Architects hired to plan new state building units

Donald R. Le Fevre, executive director of the Illinois Capital Development Board (CDB), announced Wednesday the selection of two architectural firms to plan and design the centralization of state facilities on the State Capitol Complex in Springfield.

The firms of Perry and Henderson, Springfield, and C. F. Murphy and Associates, Chicago, were selected for the task.

Le Fevre said the two firms will propose plans and building designs to add nearly one million square feet of office and parking space to the Capitol Complex Area. The project will be divided into two major phases.

Phase 1 will provide a structure of approximately 500,000 square feet to house departments, agencies, boards and commissions of government whose daily services require contact or coordination with other agencies presently located in the Capitol Complex.

These agencies currently are housed in either leased or owned space, or a combination of the two, throughout Springfield. The objective of consolidating these agencies into a central location is better efficiency, Le Fevre said.

(For comparison, the State Office Building in Springfield has 448,000 square feet of space.)

Phase 2 will be a structure similar in size to the first phase. It will consolidate many of the remaining state employees presently housed in leased quarters.

State governmental departments, agencies, boards and commissions are scattered in 94 Springfield locations, with many state agencies located at as many as ten different sites.

The cost of these leased facilities exceeds $4.5 million a year.

One of the last bills approved by the General Assembly in July, and later signed into law by Gov. Dan Walker, provides $1.5 million to plan and design expansion of the Capitol Complex.

Le Fevre said, "It's a recognized fact that greater efficiency in serving the public and considerable savings of time and money can be realized by housing units of state government under fewer roofs."

"The consolidation of state facilities closer to the Capitol Building will not only eliminate duplication of personnel and inefficient operations, but it will also provide the public with convenient access to state services and bring long-range economy in the cost of working space."

Henderson has resigned his position as chairman of the Capitol City Planning Commission. The commission had no role in selecting the architectural firms. However, when the architectural work is completed, the commission may have a role in reviewing the plans.

Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Comments taken at the public hearing will be considered before a formal permit is issued to Granite City Steel, according to Richard H. Briceand, director of the Illinois EPA. He said the hearing is being held in cooperation with the National Pollution Discharge Elimination System, a new nation wide program aimed at insuring cleaner water.

"Efforts toward controlling pollution can only be successful if the public takes an active role," Briceand emphasized.

Interested persons may contact the Illinois EPA's Collinsville office at 117 W. Main St., telephone 618-345-6220, for information on the control of discharges into Horseshoe Lake, which would be implemented by the National Pollution Discharge Elimination System permit," Briceand said.

Opti-Mrs. guest luncheon

A doll collection illustrated with music and slides was presented by Mrs. Oscar Ochs of Edwardsville at the guest day luncheon hosted by the Noon-Day Opti-Mrs. Club Monday.

The program was given at St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ.

Animal adoption clinic Saturday

Several full grown pets will be featured Saturday at the October adoption clinic sponsored by the Quad-City Association for Protection of Animals (APA).

The animals may be seen and adopted from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday at the APA facility outside the Grant City store in Nameoki Village Shopping Center.

A few puppies will be among those offered for adoption, but most available pets are adult or near adult size.

All cats to be offered have received their distemper shots and many have been spayed, the APA officers said.

Included among the pets are a brown and gold tabby cat; a solid white female with one blue eye and one yellow eye; a fluffy white male with yellow eyes and bushy tail, about 7 months old; and a pastel calico kitten about 7 months old.

Also among the cats are a Siamese female, very small in size but full grown and not spayed; a large long haired calico female; a very large short haired calico, which has a timid disposition but is named "Bear"; and a snow white male and female from the same litter, about 8 months old.

Mrs. Becerra said the "Pet of the Month" is a female dog of mixed parentage, about 1½ years old, who is a proven watchdog and a special favorite of APA volunteers at the shelter.

Dogs to be offered for adoption include a large, furry shepherd-collie male about 9 months old, who needs space to run; a half-boxer female weighing about between 60 and 75 pounds but very gentle; and two puppies of mixed parentage.

Mrs. Becerra said the APA shelter at the Granite City Army Installation will be closed to the public for three weeks, starting Saturday, to permit painting, renovation work and the installation of several new pens prior to the winter months.

Only "dire" emergencies will animals be accepted during the shelter renovation period, she added.

Persons adopting APA pets are asked to contribute a nominal fee to help toward the cost of immunization shots and other expenses of the volunteer humane group.

CADET DANIEL MONKEN (far right among the three who are seated) is pictured with other members of the current Rabble Rousers cheerleading group at West Point.

Monken leading Cadet cheers

Wanted: Four accomplished horsemen interested in learning the fine art of mule riding; one antique automobile mechanic; approximately 30 others to work up to 18 hours per week without monetary compensation. Must be willing to travel. If interested, contact Cadet Activities Office, West Point, N. Y.

Such an "ad" would probably not capture the average young man's fancy. But every year about 90 to 100 West Point cadets not only volunteer, but compete, for the unrequited job described above.

They are the Rabble Rousers, the U. S. Military Academy cheerleaders.

The Rabble Rousers' work entails much more than simply leading the Corps in cheers at football games. They are the high-energy spirit unit responsible for rousing the Corps of Cadets to pandemonium before all sports events.

In addition, a member may be detailed to perform any behind-the-scenes task from exercising one of the Army mules or repairing the Rabble Rousers' 1915 Model T, to transporting non-ambulatory cadets to games, sending the hard-to-find World War II 37-mm. shell casings expended in honor of touchdowns to the arsenal in Pennsylvania to be repacked, or writing to a film star such as Clint Eastwood asking him to make a guest appearance at a football rally.

A large part of the work involves writing and producing the skits performed at "After Taps Scheduled Spontaneous Rallies" and Friday After Dinner Rallies.

This year, the Rabble Rousers are adding to their extensive collection of clever, circuit "Laugh-In"-type TV programs which are shown between classes on Saturday mornings.

It goes without saying that "Crab Stew," premiering this year before the annual Army-Navy game, may become a classic.

The original rabble rousers were the Plebians of antiquity who led the masses in wild revolt.

Today's West Point Rabble Rousers lead the "Gray Nisses" in solid, unswerving support for Army sports.

First Classman (senior) Steve Townes, the head rabble rouser as well as the brigade activities officer, says, "There's a new era in sports and spirit emerging at West Point."

He added that despite some early losses, the Corps is inclined to "accentuate the positive" aspects of this year's season.

He cited a new coach and a young team which is doing well against nationally ranked teams as two reasons for increased spirit and enthusiasm among the Corps.

"At the first of the year," he added, "morale was really high, but everybody was sort of holding back, like 'Let's wait and see what happens.' But at the Friday night rally before the Penn State game, and at the game itself, the Corps was electrified with team-spirit."

Cadet Townes thus summed-up the Rabble Rousers' reward for their contribution to Army football—personal satisfaction in a job well done.

One of the key members, Cadet Daniel Monken, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Monken, 1521 Cottage Ave., Granite City.

On DePauw pom-pom squad

Greencastle, Ind.—Diane Gowwa, a Granite City freshman at DePauw University, has been selected for membership on the university's pom-pom squad.

Candidates for the extra-curricular performing group are chosen on the basis of personality, coordination, appearance and aptitude for synchronized dance routines.

The 18-member pom-pom squad is selected competitively each year from the women in the student body by returning members of the squad.

This year, the group will perform with the university marching band before an estimated 19,000 persons at DePauw's home football games and one appearance in Greensville, Ind.

Diane is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gowwa, 18 Miami Court, Granite City, and is majoring in business at the private university of 2,400 students. She is a 1974 graduate of Granite City High School South.

Damaged by fire

An estimated $3,000 damage was done to a 1973 station wagon belonging to Edward Nida, 3930 Central Lane, Ponton Beach during the weekend Long Lake firemen extinguished the blaze. Firemen said the ignition switch in the car was in the on position. The owners were not at home when the fire occurred.

If you're a good driver, ask me how much you can save by switching to low cost MFA car insurance.

The sooner you call, the sooner you save.

2,000 Girl Scouts here

Member agencies of the Tri-Cities Area United Way include a group known as the River Bluffs Council.

What's it all about? It's about girls. All kind of girls—from first grade right on through high school.

The purpose of Girl Scouting is to help girls in building a life style that includes love, trust, honor, citizenship, resourcefulness and values.

A spokesman commented to the Press-Record this week.

"How do we do it? We recruit and select adult volunteers, both men and women, from this community who believe in the agency's purpose and in the welfare of today's youth.

"We combine these girls and adults with a program of trips, crafts, outdoor living, exploring future vocations, meeting new people and testing out their ideas.

"Why are we different? Numbers make us different. We serve 14,000 girls and adults in Southwest Illinois and over three million girls nationally.

"In the Tri-Cities area there are approximately 2,000 girl and adult members. Despite this, the strength of the program is that it is built on a small group of girls, usually about 22, meeting and planning their own program to meet their own needs and interests.

"At any one time you will find Afro dances, Irish jigs, trips to the post office or Europe and a weekend campout in the woods.

Girls in the Tri-Cities participate in many activities, including the Festival of Giving, "bunny boxes" and other community service projects.

"We are different because we have some professional and clerical staff, the person that makes Girl Scouting work is the adult volunteer who does not receive a dime of compensation but shares and grows with her job in leadership or board committees," the River Bluffs spokesman continued.

"Money makes us unusual because most of our support is from private money—non-governmental. The United Way and Girl Scout cookies are our two main sources of income.

"We have received some federal funding from Model Cities and New Careers. This funding has been used to reach many girls often neglected by traditional agencies.

"What does Girl Scouting mean to the community? Recently our council has begun three troops for girls who are unable to participate in a regular Girl Scout program, due to mental, physical or emotional handicaps.

"In many cases, this is the girls' only opportunity to be of service to other people. You just have to appreciate the pride these girls have in the preparation of gifts for children less fortunate than they.

"Area girls have participated clean-up days, teaching adults to use the voting machine, visiting and planning parties and programs for senior citizens, making toys and crafts for day care centers, city government, community days and projects, and many other service projects.

"Service is a large part of being a Girl Scout.

"How about you, the reader? Adult volunteers make Girl Scouting possible in your community. And leadership is not the only job in scouting.

"If you have a special skill, if you would like to work with girls, or if you would prefer to work with adults, write or phone the River Bluffs Girl Scout Council, Box 430, Glen Carbon, Ill. 62034, at 280-7266 or 245-1066.

"If you believe in your community and its future, there is no better than Girl Scouting."

The Local United Way campaign currently is in progress.

DAR chapter to receive bequest

The Drusilla Andrews Chapter of the DAR held its monthly meeting in the home of Mrs. Barbara Williams with 10 members present. Regent Mrs. Ruth McCarty presided and Mrs. Janet Wilson read the President General's message. Topics of national defense were presented by Miss Ella Ray Smith.

Mrs. McCarty reported the local law firm has notified the chapter that it is the recipient of a sum of money from the estate of the late Miss Anna Wilcox, a former chapter member.

An offer of a subscription to the DAR Magazine for Granite City High School North has been accepted, but declined for South High, it was reported. Endorsements of various candidates for DAR state office, to be elected in March, were read. A contribution to the scholarship fund also was authorized.

This month is the 200th anniversary of the Battle of Point Pleasant, Va., it was noted. In the incident Gen. Andrew Lewis' colonists defeated Chief Cornstalk's Shawnee in a 10-to-12-hour battle. As a result it was explained, the Indians gave up extensive hunting grounds south of the Ohio River.

Several prospective members' names were introduced and were voted acceptance into the DAR providing their membership papers meet national regulations.

Literature regarding the Junior American clubs was turned over to the vice regent, Mrs. Janet Wilson, for investigation and possible introduction into local schools.

Mrs. Helen Gantcheff presented a slide tour of the DAR Museum in Washington, D.C., with a taped commentary as the program.

In addition to those named also present, were Mrs. Margaret Bell, Mrs. Nele Hart, Mrs. Emma Schoen, Mrs. Ruth Mitchell and Mrs. Ruth Thelma.

Women who believe they qualify for membership in the DAR are invited to call Mrs. McCarty, at 981-6637, or Mrs. Schen, registrar, at 981-1246, for further information.

The November meeting will be held in the home of Miss Harte, with Mrs. Mitchell in charge of the program.

Mrs. Wagner is club hostess

Mrs. Veranica Wagner entertained the Thursday Evening club on Thursday night in her home, 1643 Lindell Blvd.

A gift was presented to Mrs. Margaret Richardson in honor of her birthday, on behalf of the club.

Three winning prizes were Mesdames Agnes Schwarzkopf, Grace Rance, Leona Parente and the hostess.

Others present were Mrs. Grace Hennrich, Mrs. Libby Lombardi and Mrs. Vera Carey. Mrs. Carey will host the next meeting.

BENEFIT WURST MARKET is to be held Sunday, Oct. 27, from noon to 7 p.m. by the Soroptimist Club of this region at the Millstadt Veterans Home on Highway 158. Shown preparing for the event is Mrs. Elma Hoover, 2503 Iowa St., a past president of the club. The sale will include food, home-made items and booth projects.

Grace Baptist class elects

The Winsome Class of Grace Baptist Church held its first meeting of the new season this month at the home of Mrs. Martha Whitehead, 2510 Jordan Ave.

Mrs. Marilyn DuVall, class teacher, gave the opening prayer and Mrs. Faye Hester, president, led the business sessions.

New officers were elected for 1974-75. They are: Mrs. Lois Wright, president; Mrs. Whitehead, outreach leader; and Mrs. Jo Ann Vaughn, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Jeanette Ballard will serve as "sunshine girl," responsible for sending cards and gifts to class members on appropriate occasions, and Mrs. Estelle Boatman again will serve as game chairman.

Members voted to retain "Winsome" as the class name and to use the rose as class flower. Romans 13:8 was selected as the scripture verse and the song, "I Love Thee," as class melody. Colors of the group will be red and white.

Mrs. DuVall and Mrs. Whitehead volunteered to compile a yearbook. Adopted as a class project was the Lottie Moon Christmas Offering for foreign missions and a goal of $75 was established.

In the social hour, Mrs. Boatman directed games and awarded prizes to Mrs. Hester, Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Harriet Glasgow.

Refreshments were served to those mentioned and to Mesdames Judy Thomson, LaVerne Dawson, Dee Crawford, Lorene Pare and Jean Bransfield.

Mrs. Hester, 64 Karen Drive, Arlington Heights, will be hostess to the group on Nov. 4.

Cubs in visit to Lake Carlyle

Cub Scouts and Webelos of Cub Pack 4 sponsored by the Logan School PTA visited Loch Farms on Route 111 near Wood River where they were escorted through a "haunted house" made of straw and ate water-melons in the field.

The group also enjoyed a hayride through the fields in which they picked squash. The Cubs also made a trip to Carlyle Lake where they took a hike over the three-mile nature trail and toured a cemetery where dates on tombstones dated back to the 1700s and 1800s.

They were permitted to take part in events of the Boy Scout Camporee being held there. The group cooked supper over open fires, sang songs and performed skits during the evening. They also joined in the Boy Scout campfire session.

The Ladies Handicraft Club met last week in the home of Mrs. Gladys Skubish, 2701 Lincoln Ave., and honored Mrs. Kate Fedora on her birthday with a gift.

Fresh fall flowers centered the dining table for a luncheon served by the hostess to Mesdames Vivienne Danco, Sue Perdicaris, Irene Kadane, Frances Vivod and prize winners, Mrs. Mary Bridick and Mrs. Ann Kuhlman.

The November meeting will be with Mrs. Vivod.

50 foster homes for teens needed

"There is a very urgent need in Madison County for 50 foster homes to place children from ages 12 to 18 for short or long terms," Alan Koch, head of the Resource Development Team here for the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services, told the Press-Record this week.

"We are experiencing large numbers of children from this county—teenagers 12 to 18 years old and some younger children, 6-12 years old—who need foster home settings in which to find some stability from family crisis situations," he said. "Although most placements are short term, some children may be in foster care until they are 18 or 19 years-of-age due to unreconcilable problems in the natural family," Koch explained.

"We try to place these children in their own community if there are no circumstances which might interfere with adjustment or treatment plans. Fifty new foster homes are being sought to meet present needs for these children."

"Children coming into the care of the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services in the Quad-City area need security, understanding, and guidance to find the road to a healthy adulthood," Koch commented, and added "Foster parents who offer their homes and skills to teenage boys and girls often must deal with complex emotional problems stemming from a child's background."

"Some acting out behavior may accompany a child's emotional problems or may be only part of normal adolescent development, which may include dating, negative peer relationships, introduction to smoking and drug use, testing of authority, movement toward independence, or learning to accept responsibility."

"Local help is being sought to serve these children, since an agency cannot be successful in working with these children unless the community itself realizes the problems of its youth and desire to help through personal involvement.

"Foster families will be asked to accept one or two children into their home for care, according to preferences they may have for either boys or girls. At this time only applicants interested in children 12 to 18 will be accepted initially for licensing. Applicants interested in children 6 to 12 will be accepted on a more-or-less as-needed basis," he added.

"Our primary criterion for approval as foster parents is a willingness to accept a child with problems and to help us work with him. Orientation and training programs for foster parent applicants will be held in local communities in Madison, St. Clair, Monroe and Randolph Counties. This is being done to facilitate attendance and to bring the needs of particular communities into a more direct focus," he explained.

Support services available to foster families will include volunteer advocates for individual children, homemakers, locally functioning social worker teams, and other community resources which are available to meet a child's needs. Expenses for clothing, medical and dental treatment, and boarding costs are paid to all foster parents, Koch added. Persons interested in learning more about the program may call Koch or Don Szymula in the East St. Louis area office toll-free at 878-2400. It was noted.

Koch also said a field office recently has been opened over 1000 Johnson Road for local problems. The field office telephone number is 878-8885, he said, but explained persons interested in providing foster homes should call the East St. Louis area office.

St. Louis U. will honor Cong. Price

Seven St. Louis area residents are among the 13 St. Louis University graduates who will receive the university's Alumni Merit Award Sunday, Oct. 27. Included among the 13 is Congressman Melvin Price of this district.

The award is given annually to alumni "who have exemplified the university credo to an eminent degree in their daily lives."

Presentation will be during the annual Founders Week Civic Dinner, beginning at 7 p.m. Sunday in the Chase-Park Plaza Hotel's Khorassan Room. A 1927 graduate with a bachelor of arts degree, Rep. Price won his first Congressional election in 1944 and has been elected to every succeeding Congress.

He is a charter member and currently chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, majority member of the House Committee on Armed Services and chairman of its subcommittee on research, development and Military Airlift.

He has been a Congressional adviser to numerous international conferences on the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

W.W. Brandt new SIUC president

Warren W. Brandt, former president of Virginia Commonwealth University, Richmond, Va., will be the next president of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, subject to approval by the SIUC Board of Trustees.

Ivan A. Elliott Jr., SIUC board president, said that all board members have participated actively in review of the candidates recommended by the Search Committee and that the invitation to Brandt followed consultation with board members and prior agreement among board members on procedures.

Brandt, who will take over the SIUC presidency Dec. 1 as SIUC's 11th fully-chaired president, replaces Interim President Hiram H. Lear, dean of the SIUC School of Law. Lear has filled the SIUC presidency since the March 14 resignation of David R. Derge.

Selection of the 51-year-old Brandt, culminates an eight-month search by a presidential search committee headed by former SIUC Executive Vice President Willis Malone. The committee reported its recommendations to the board two months ago.

President of Virginia Commonwealth since 1969, Brandt has acted as consultant to that university's governing board since his resignation from the presidency Oct. 1.

Validictorin of his 1944 class at Michigan State University, where he was graduated with a B.S. in chemistry, Brandt received his Ph.D. from the University of Illinois in 1949. He taught analytical chemistry at Purdue, and was named chairman of the analytical chemistry division of the Purdue chemistry department in 1959.

In 1961, he was named head of the department of chemistry at Kansas State University, and became associate dean of the Kansas State University College of Arts and Sciences in 1962.

Brandt was named dean of the Graduate School and vice-president for academic affairs at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University in 1963. In 1968 he became executive vice-president, and was named president of the newly-formed Virginia Commonwealth University in 1969. Author of approximately 40 technical publications in the field of analytical chemistry, Brandt was a 1958 Guggenheim Fellow at Oxford University, England. He is active in professional and civic organizations, having served as secretary-treasurer and chairman of the American Chemical Society analytical chemistry division, as well as serving on the board of directors of the Metropolitan Richmond Chamber of Commerce, United Givers Fund and board of trustees, Union Theological Seminary.

He also is an elder of the Ginter Park Presbyterian Church and a member of the honorary board of directors, Richmond Ballet.

Brandt is married and the father of two children.

District garden clubs convene

Members of federated garden clubs in Granite City are attending Presidents' Council Day today at St. Paul United Church of Christ in Lebanon. At the event, the presidents and past directors of clubs in District V, Garden Club of Illinois, are honored. A program of flower arranging presented by Mrs. Alan Atkins of St. Louis also is planned this afternoon. Today's activity is one of several reviewed last week by the District V board of directors at a meeting at the Round Table Restaurant in Collinsville. Mrs. Arvid Nelson of Lebanon, District V director, presided and announced a conservation conference will take place at Allerton Park, Monticello, Ill., Monday through Wednesday. All garden clubs in the state will be represented, she said. A newly organized garden club in Fairview Heights soon will become federated within the district, Mrs. William Klotz of O'Fallon reported. Mrs. Norman Richter of Mascoutah said plans are being formulated for a flower show in May at the Famous-Barr mall in Fairview Heights. Those chosen to serve on a nominating committee were Mrs. Henry Heberer and Mrs. Robert Overton, both of Mascoutah, Mrs. Kenneth Holbert, Collinsville, and Mrs.

Wilmer Winter of Granite City. Mrs. Nelson urged all garden clubs which sponsor junior groups to encourage the students to participate in a state biennial contest of collages, incorporating the state bird, flower and tree on a collage board. The Garden Club of Illinois is participating with the national council in the contest, she said. In the state speech contest all entries must include a tape recording of the speech, using the topic "Trees Today for Life Tomorrow," and each contestant is required to plant a tree, Mrs. Nelson said. Local garden club members attending the board meeting included Mrs. Winter, president of Garden Study Club; Mrs. Charles Kohl, president, Mrs. C. E. Ends, by-laws chairman and Mrs. Earl Glenn, garden center

Millikin-Cockrell betrothal

The engagement and plans for a December wedding of Miss Donna Cockrell and Randy W. Millikin, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Millikin, Rural Route One, Granite City are being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Cockrell Sr., 2816 Birch Ave.

Miss Cockrell, a 1973 graduate of Granite City High School, is employed at Gasen Drug Store. She is a member of Third Baptist Church.

Her fiancé was graduated in 1970 from Granite City High School and works as a draftsman in the engineering department at Shell Oil Refinery in Wood River. He is a member of Grace Baptist Church.

The betrothed couple also belongs to the Singing Illinoisians, a state-wide Baptist choral group based in Springfield.

They are completing plans for a wedding on Dec. 7 at the Third Baptist Church.

Abolish social security 'ceiling,' Howlett urges

The ceiling on earned income for social security recipients should be abolished, Michael J. Howlett, secretary of state, said during the weekend.

Howlett was the featured speaker at a luncheon of the High Twelve Club at Oak Park. The club is a service group of business and professional men, educators and clergymen.

"Under existing law, senior citizens can't earn more than $2,400 a year until they are 72 without having their social security benefits reduced or eliminated," said Howlett.

"For every two dollars the senior citizen earns over the ceiling, one dollar is taken out of his social security. But the ceiling applies only to what he earns by working."

"It is unfair that investment income has no bearing on social security benefits—only earned income."

"A man of means can collect rents, stock dividends, interest on bank deposits and mortgages up to any amount, and still collect his full social security check as long as he doesn't work for pay."

"But a man who has worked all his life, and paid into social security from every paycheck, is penalized if he keeps on working after he reaches retirement age."

"At least 2½ million working senior citizens suffer because of the earnings ceiling."

"Nearly a million receive no social security at all. About 10 million more earn enough so that their benefits are cut. About a half million more receive full social security but deliberately hold their earnings below $2,400 when they could be earning more."

"Social security is a popular program, a protection for the elderly against need, financed by taxes on the working population. If we didn't have it, there would be 12½ million more people in poverty."

"But benefits are paid as a return on savings, not as alms. Workers who reach retirement age have paid, and their employers have paid, for their social security benefits."

"The benefits should not be an incentive to quit working. If a person is ready, able and willing to work, he should be able to collect social security too. He shouldn't have to wait until he is 72 to collect both a paycheck and a social security benefit."

Steadily worsening imbalance in education fund makes it imperative that Venice School District voters approve revision of the rate limit tomorrow

Revision of the education fund tax rate ceiling failed to gain the approval of Venice School District voters in June and December 1973 and March 1974. An affirmative vote is imperative in tomorrow's special election due to the deepening financial dilemma facing the district.

Balloting is set for noon to 7 p.m. Friday at the park recreation center, 305 Broadway, for city dwellers and the Improvement Association hall at 100 Hill St. for unincorporated area residents. A large turnout is being encouraged to help assure that the public's wishes will prevail.

A 50-cent hike per $100 assessment is sought in the present $2.05 education fund tax rate limit. The limit had been $1.65 until a successful referendum in 1969.

The problem that has developed stems from a sharply widening disparity in revenue and costs.

Inflation has boosted salaries and supply costs. With individual personal property taxes assessed on tax rolls and railroad assessment patterns altered, assessed valuation has dropped from $37 million to $32 million in the last six years, reducing the tax base from which Venice school revenue is derived.

Venice schools repaid $270,000 in tax anticipation warrants at the start of the current fiscal year in July. Their 1974-75 education budget projects a further imbalance of $188,698, determined by deducting

Federal probe of Medicaid in state

By LESTER BELL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau
Congress will know by mid-January who is responsible in the Illinois Department of Public Aid for the alleged misadministration of the Medicaid program.

The incoming Congress, the 96th, will certainly take the grueling possible view of the continuing Illinois exposes because the scandal not only undermines the present Medicaid program but poses a threat to any national health insurance program that may be enacted.

At the request of Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., the Senate Finance Committee has begun checking into the alleged fraud and abuses.

The committee has called in the General Accounting Office, Congressional "watchdog" agency, to make a "thorough investigation."

GAO investigators are indeed thorough, as their blue-ribbon reports to Congress attest. They delve deeply on the spot, report their findings in detail, name names, and recommend appropriate action.

"There's been a heck of a lot of follow-up," a Senate Finance Committee source said in an interview when asked about the status of Percy's request. "We have a big team out there."

"We are shooting for a report from GAO to the committee by mid-January."

The source said the committee expects to send some investigators to Springfield this month, citing the list of reported abuses, which include kickbacks, overcharges, falsified claims, duplicate billings, use of unlicensed physicians, violations of professional ethics, profiteering by collectors, hoarding of payoffs and, most ominously, "possible crime syndicate involvement."

The significance of this investigation lies in its potential impact on both existing Medicare and Medicaid statutes and future national health insurance legislation," Percy said.

"Implicit in the problem of Medicare and Medicaid are lessons that must be learned if the national health insurance plan that is ultimately enacted is to avoid abuses and costly deficiencies," the senator added.

Percy also said that although the "seriousness of the Illinois scandal is recognized," "I believe alleged offenders have yet to be identified and the implications of their actions."

He pointed out that Sen. John J. Williams five years ago warned the Quad-City area of the "fraud of Medicaid."

Veterans' Day recalls Quad-Cityans' patriotism, dedication and sacrifice

To the Editor:

It has been said earlier that Veterans' Day is a day for all Americans.

It is a day to pause and acknowledge the respect and admiration we have for our veterans.

It is a day to honor our veterans who died in the struggle for another nation's peace.

Let us never forget that our veterans symbolize the idealism, self-sacrifice and faith that are part of our heritage.

Prevalent in our heritage are the human qualities of bravery, compassion, industry and ingenuity.

All are a must in the pursuit and establishment of lasting peace.

We are a nation that has always possessed patriotism—not only the short bursts of emotion but the steady dedication of a lifetime.

There is something noble about our men and women in the Quad-City area—and that something is that they have served their country.

They served, and many died, because of their love for this great land of ours and everything for which it stands.

Quad-Cityans, let us never forget that if we lack courage to stand firm for our beliefs which we feel determined to uphold, then we do not deserve the heritage which is ours, and we are unworthy of the sacrifices our veterans have made for us.

They believed in the worth of our country's people and traditions: in the right of men to liberty and the pursuit of happiness, as well as life. They kept faith with their country and with us who follow. It is now our turn to keep the faith.

Hundreds of Quad-Cityans have served and are now serving the wonderful country we call America.

They are dedicated, even though the call to duty has every so often led to loneliness, hardship, danger—and, for some, death.

For Veterans' Day 1974, DUW members of Tent 90 request that American citizens join them and say "Thanks" to our dedicated men and women all over the world by displaying our U.S. flag proudly on their day.

Fairer monetary system is needed

To the Editor:

I should like to comment on the letter, "Living standards hinge on production," that appeared in the Forum of the Oct. 21 Press-Record.

The writer, like too many other university people, can talk about theories and about the things we produce.

As for myself, I happen to know what I am talking about, so please bear with me while we take a careful look at the dollar.

In the production of goods or services for profit, we place one value on our services, and we place a greater value on the things we produce.

There is an illusion in the minds of most people that money through circulating has some magical power to increase its capacity to get things done.

Now, please do not laugh, but it would be more appropriate to say that money evaporates, for when it gets back to buying its respective share of the goods and services, it is truly spent.

To get back into active service, the money is used to produce more things on which a greater value is placed, leaving another margin of values for which there is no money in existence with which it can be bought.

In general practice, the needs of all our people, and above wages paid can only be absorbed through the creation of debts, and we do have the debts.

When we borrow and lending of money, there is nothing that can happen to it that can make it equal the amount owed to the lender at the end of any given period of time, and it is merely another process through which we increase our debt structure.

As ridiculous as it may sound, there are no provisions in our money system for the payment of profits and interest. It has been taken care of through the creation of debts, the promises to pay sometime in the future.

Amusing things I have known for a good many years, and it has been surprising that we have been able to hold together this long, but we are approaching the time when we will have two choices.

One choice will be to concede that we are not capable of being a self-governing people and submit ourselves to the rule of dictators who will do as we wish whatever they think is expedient for the moment.

Our other choice will be to devise and establish a money and banking system that will serve only and impartially the needs of all our people.

Our present money and banking system is a capitalist enterprise within itself, and in its design and function it has been devised to benefit the more fortunate more than anyone else.

Regardless of what the rest of us may choose to do about it, the present system has its own built-in self-destruct mechanisms, and sooner or later they are going to fail.

I have approximately $20,000 invested in the system, but believe me, I am not very happy about it.

Regardless of whether we like it or not, we have some big changes ahead of us, and it is high time for us to do some serious thinking about our approaches to reform.

In the past, some of our efforts at reform have been rather crude and cruel; and in the future, they did more harm than good. Perhaps it was because the reformers were more concerned with revenge than with justice.

Would clothing exchange help 'Win'?

To the Editor:

I have been sitting here thinking of some way to help the "Win" campaign. I think I have come up with something.

I propose that we young mothers get together to form a Children's Clothing Exchange.

Every young mother with growing children hates the pile up of good clothing that her children can no longer use.

Some of us have no one to pass these clothes onto. They often end up sitting around for years.

I myself have two boys. I have size 5 clothes that my small one wore last year—but he needs size 4 now.

With the high costs of clothing, wouldn't it be better if trading my size 5 for size 4 with a mother like me with a similar problem?

I realize that Goodwill is there, but the things I have are ready for that. I could save them until next year.

But if there were such an exchange, I could get what I need and someone else could get use out of my son's things.

Anyone interested?

Severe capacity limit at Lambert

To the Editor:

The St. Louis Metropolitan Area Port Authority has called for federal approval to build the new St. Louis International Airport at Columbia-Waterloo, Ill.

Forecasts just completed for the Lambert Field master plan add new urgency to the need for a major new airport for the St. Louis area.

The projections look for a demand for more total aircraft operations each year than any previous planner has predicted.

It appears that the need to impose serious limitations on the use of Lambert will be before 1985. By then, even with all possible improvements, it will be out of capacity to handle the demand.

Moreover, the already-severe problem of noise in the Lambert area will be greatly intensified and spread over a greater area.

Residents of North St. Louis County can expect to be subjected to continued aircraft noise without relief, even though technological improvements may make individual aircraft quieter.

The only solution to the airport noise problem is adequate buffer land surrounding the airport, impossible at Lambert.

These factors become all the more significant when we realize that the master plan forecasts—as with the recent industry forecasts—assume that St. Louis will continue to decline economically during the next 20 years as compared with the nation as a whole.

planners' predictions on the number of passengers in the new Lambert run more than 100 per cent higher than numbers put forth just two months ago by the Air Transport Association, the lobbying and trade organization of the airlines.

Thus, we already are seeing a substantial upward revision in the estimates from the doomday outlook that followed the oil embargo.

The graph is heading back toward the figures used just two years ago by the Missouri-St. Louis Airport Authority in promoting its Lambert, 2000 Plan. The 2000 Plan called for a major expansion of Lambert by adding some 1,000 acres through extensive industrial and residential relocation.

Recent trends indicate that the climb back up toward the passenger level that had been projected in the early 1970s will continue.

Airline traffic and passenger totals at the new Dallas-Fort Worth airport are running ahead of projections, and certain areas have lost their level. General aviation use is far exceeding projections.

St. Louis-based Airline reporting traffic gains to new all-time highs. Other airlines also are experiencing banner years.

American Airlines had had a spectacular turn-around, with Allegheny, Delta, Eastern and United reporting improved profits.

Other cities are pushing ahead with developments to be ready for major growth in air commerce. Los Angeles already has acquired nearly 13,000 of the 17,000 acres for its new Palmdale International Airport, 37 miles northeast of Los Angeles.

Atlanta, already with land options on one 13,000-acre site, will make a final decision on the location of its second major airport within weeks.

Surely, the solution for St. Louis must not be a search for ways to constrain St. Louis' economic growth, or air commerce to fit Lambert's limited capacity.

In evaluating Table 13-1, "Forecast of Local and Itinerant Operations (000's)," from the Ralph M. Parsons report of Oct. 11, it should be noted that Lambert Field's practical annual capacity (PANCAP) with all possible improvements is approximately 350,000 flight operations.

The PANCAP represents the maximum number of operations that can be handled without costly delays, the need to impose restrictions during certain hours, and the diversion of traffic to other airports.

This new report, when related to the 350,000 yearly flight capacity of Lambert, shows the existing airport will be 18.5 per cent short of meeting the predicted air traffic volume by 1985 (479,000 flights), 54.3 per cent by 1990 (540,000) and 75.3 per cent short of what is needed by 1995 (613,000 flights).

Drug abuse so damaging that arguments for legalizing it seem pointless

Some young people attempt to justify drug abuse (mostly illegal) by equating it with excessive drinking (mostly legal).

They see differing moral values related to the "generation gap"; they say older adults are largely in control of the country and apply a "double standard" because older adults are more comfortable with familiar rather than new values.

Regardless of such contentions, it is clear that alcoholism has many tragic ramifications—and equally true that drug addiction is taking a shockingly heavy toll among those who fall victim to it, whatever their age.

A national television program this week spotlighted American drug abusers and included chilling scenes of young U.S. and Dutch children in Amsterdam. Already plagued by collapsing veins, they were injecting themselves as a last resort in the tips of their fingers. Within a few weeks, many of those shown are likely to be dead.

All of which may seem a long way from home—until reading Monday's Press-Record front page. A picture showed a Granite City police detective making an inventory of newly confiscated drugs with an approximate street value of $6,000, including derivatives of opium and cocaine and 2,500 capsules of seconal.

A news article on that page told of three Granite Cityans being charged with possession of controlled substances following a six-hour police stakeout. An unrelated story reported the arrest of a Madisonian and a resident of Pontoon Beach after a skidding auto allegedly jeopardized public safety in the Nameki Road area; charges against a driver included intoxication, and another man allegedly had plastic bags of drugs in two pockets.

Drug abuse would appear to lead down such a self-destructive path that it is hard to defend logically, whether or not it is ever "decriminalized." The "lows" that follow the "highs" too often consist of wrecked or cruelly shortened lives.

Compensation, safety agency needs a name

By JOAN MURARO
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

As Rome once said to Juliet, "What's in a name?"

As the Illinois Industrial Commission recently said to the world at large, "Obviously, we need a new name."

About 1,000 people, either sympathetic to the commission or just anxious to win a free weekend, have submitted names so far. But the commission still hasn't got a new one.

The commission inaugurated a contest during the 1974 Illinois state fair, asking people to submit suggestions for a new name which will more accurately tell people what the commission does.

The old name, which it has had more than 60 years, apparently doesn't, since people keep calling on the commission for assistance it doesn't render. Others who need its services can't find it, according to chairman Mel Rosenbloom.

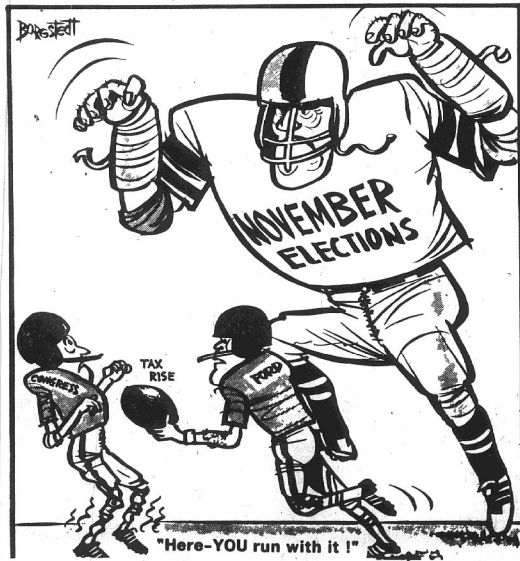

The initial deadline was Sept. 15, with entries to be received by Sept. 30, and the winner to be announced by Oct. 15.

However, the commission has now extended the deadline to Nov. 15, so anyone who didn't get around to entering before—or even someone who did—can submit names to the commission's Chicago office until the middle of next month.

Entries postmarked by Nov. 15 will be received up to Nov. 30 and then will be turned over to a panel of representatives of several Chicago advertising agencies.

The winner will get a free weekend for himself and all members of his immediate family living at home, in any state park lodge of his choice.

The vacation weekend will run from noon Friday to Sunday evening, and can be taken anytime through next June 1. Should the winner choose to take a fall or winter weekend, the choices will be a bit limited, since the conservation department lodges at Giant City State Park in Southern Illinois, and White Pines Forest State

Musical farce part of North festival program

The musical farce, "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," will be presented at 8 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 30 and 31, at Granite City High School South auditorium.

The comedy, which is being presented as part of the GCHS North Fall Festival '74, will be followed both evenings with the coronation of the Queen and her Court.

The characters in the play are classics of slapstick. They include such laugh-catchers as conniving slaves, over-amorous young lovers, grumpy old men, domineering wives, seductive courtesans and bragging soldiers.

Tickets in advance are 75 cents for students or activity ticket exchange for North students, and $1 for adults. Tickets are being sold during lunch periods in the North cafeteria and from 7:30 a.m. until 7:55 a.m. outside Room 517.

Tickets at the door are students $1 and adults $1.50. No student activity tickets will be accepted at the door.

The play is one of the homecoming events of GCHS North Fall festival '74 presented jointly by the Advanced Speech Class and the Student Council. The speech classes present the play and the student council supervises the election of the Coronation Court and Queen.

The cast of characters in the play are: Gary Busby as Senex, an old man; Joy Patrick as Domina, his wife; Jim Mathis as Hero, his son, in love with Philia; Larry Bax as Hysterium, slave to Senex and Domina; Terry Bax as Pseudolus, slave to Hero; Mike Nonn, as Erriofon, an old man; Terry Ashby, as Miles Gloriosus, a warrior.

Larry Libby as Lycus, a buyer and seller of courtesans; Tina Polach as Tintinabula, a courtesan; Linda Parish as Panacea, a courtesan; Tina Polach as Tintinabula, a courtesan; Debbie Carmichael, a courtesan; Bev Uzunoff, as The Geminiae; Margie Cooke as Vibula, a courtesan; Cindy Snider as Gymnasia, a courtesan; Sharon Koesterer as Philia, a virgin; and Frank Murphy as Eunuch, protector of the courtesans.

Lisa Groothuis and Brent Weiss are the musicians and Vincent Aldaz, John Bischoff and Randy Miles are the proteans. The time of the play is two hundred years before the Christian era on a spring day. The setting is a street in Rome in front of the houses of Erriofon, Senex and Lycus, and the action is continuous with only a single intermission.

Students carve pumpkins in Halloween contest

Creative Jack-o-lanterns carved by some students of Granite City High School art classes are being displayed in the windows of downtown stores, beginning today, as a Halloween project developed by the Central Business District Committee of the Retail Merchants Association.

The project was suggested as a change from programs of previous years in which students painted the windows of downtown stores in Halloween designs.

Prizes of cash, savings accounts, gift certificates and dinners will be presented to winners of the program which was conducted in cooperation with Gene Alassi, art education consultant of the Granite City School District.

Judging will be conducted Friday. The Jack-o-lanterns will remain on display until Oct. 30 when the youths who made them may take them home.

Panel to consider rail regulations

A panel of three federal judges is to be appointed soon to study whether Illinois Commerce Commission regulations for railroads to handle dangerous substances are unconstitutional or would cause "an undue burden on commerce."

Twenty-three railroads which operate in Illinois and the Fertilizer Institute are fighting the state regulations, which would not allow cars containing dangerous substances to be rolled free during switching operations. The ICC is under a restraining order prohibiting enforcement of the regulations.

Price notes Congress' action on pensions, education, wages, health

"The 93rd Congress has met with some of the most pressing problems to ever face the American people," Rep. Melvin Price (Dem., 23rd Ill.) declared in a report issued as Congress prepared for its late-October recess.

"Unemployment and an increased cost of living have combined to make an inflationary spiral which seem impossible to curb without immediate and effective action."

"In addition, political scandal in the highest strata of the government has produced the greatest domestic crisis in decades," he related.

"Despite these seemingly overwhelming difficulties, Congress has made every effort to keep the nation on course. A small sampling of the legislation Congress has enacted in these two years demonstrates this," he commented.

"Congress passed the Private Pension Reform Bill and this past week overrode a Presidential veto on railroad retirement reform—both of which enable workers to rest assured that when the time comes for their retirement, they will have adequate funds to live decently.

"For those still working, Congress passed a minimum wage increase. And for those out of work, unemployment compensation benefits were extended and the Comprehensive Manpower Act provided federal assistance for state and local training services."

"For the elderly, Congress approved an 11 per cent increase in Social Security benefits and initiated the Supplemental Security Income program which went into effect in January 1974."

"Health care proved to be another field of concern for the 93rd Congress. The Health Maintenance Organization Act was enacted to assist families not only with immediate medical care but also with preventive care treatment.

"Emergency medical services were funded for every state in the union. And Cancer Act Amendments authorized continued research into the prevention and control of this deadly disease. In addition, Congress will continue to study the proposals made earlier this session regarding National Health Insurance."

"Education reform is yet another achievement of the 93rd Congress. The Elementary and Secondary Education Act authorizes aid for a variety of educational programs including adult education, education for the handicapped, career education and consumer education."

"A number of specialized bills were passed with regard to drug and alcohol abuse education, funding for the National Foundation for the Arts and Humanities, and assistance for one million college students under the Basic Grant program.

"Veterans' education also was assisted by extending veterans' eligibility for educational benefits to 10 years."

"These broad categories—labor, health, education—do not begin to cover the fields into which Congress has ventured. "Housing, disaster relief, flood control, highways, energy, mass transit and campaign reform have all been assisted through Congress' efforts."

"But we must not sit back and contemplate our victories when the war is still raging. Inflation is at an all-time high. Unemployment and the cost of living are soaring, and though the 93rd Congress has made progress, we have not found all the answers."

"When Congress returns in mid-November it will face challenges rarely seen in our times."

"But with the example and prior work of the 93rd Congress to guide it, I am sure we will do our utmost to protect the trust given us by the American people to provide solutions to our many problems." Price concluded.

Cong. Price has released the results of a local area survey taken on the Federal Revenue Sharing Program by his office. "The response I received showed an overwhelming acceptance for the revenue sharing program as a whole," Price said.

"New avenues of funding have been opened up to our smaller communities and they are using this money in a variety of ways, including improvements in sewer systems, recreational facilities, road maintenance and purchase of police and firefighting equipment.

"I was pleased with the results of this survey, and I am sure the comments I received will go a long way in keeping this program viable."

Liberty-privacy group would alter credit report methods

The Governor's Commission on Individual Liberty and Personal Privacy is seeking public comment on a proposed Fair Consumer Credit Reporting Act for Illinois.

The draft bill is the first in a series of measures being considered by the Commission, a group created by executive order of Gov. Dan Walker last March.

Bernard Weisberg, chairman of the commission, reports that the group wants to receive the comments of consumer groups, the business community and individual citizens on specific provisions of the legislative proposal.

He said, "We are most concerned that our recommendations to the governor reflect a vigorous concern for the privacy of the individual without disrupting the legitimate information needs of commerce. We all appreciate the need for constructive criticism of the work done thus far."

Key provisions of the bill include requirements that:

—No credit report may be released without the specific consent of the individual subject.

—No credit investigation may be conducted which involves the interviewing of neighbors, friends and others without the advance written permission of the individual subject; and

—The individual consumer is also guaranteed prompt access to his actual credit file and the opportunity to challenge or correct the information it contains.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
THURS., OCT. 24, 1974 Page 38

Other provisions of the draft bill would:

—Prohibit discrimination in the granting of credit on the basis of race, religion, sex, age, retirement or the receipt of public assistance; and

—Require that when credit, employment or insurance is denied because of information contained in the consumer's file, he be notified of the reason.

The commission has been studying the impact of personal information reporting keeping an individual privacy in both government and the private sector.

It also has under consideration legislative proposals in several other areas, including school student records and the handling of personal information gathered by state agencies.

Written comments regarding the proposed legislation may be sent to: Governor's Commission on Individual Liberty and Personal Privacy, 160 N. LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill. 60601

Dracula and Frankenstein in area at 7 p.m. Friday

With the Halloween season approaching, Explorer Post 10-4 again will provide special "spookily" entertainment for children and adults of the Quad-City area as their "haunted castle" at 1316 Madison Ave. opens at 7 p.m. Friday and continues through Halloween night.

Last year the Explorers presented a "haunted house" that thrilled and delighted over 2,500 Quad-Cityans.

The post this year has found a larger and "spookier" location in the cellar of the former Tri-City Tent and Awning Co. building.

Persons attending should find ample parking on Grand Avenue a block away.

The same "haunted house" cast, with some new additions, will be on hand to scare and delight both young and old.

The Explorers are asking a 50-cent donation for children under 12, and 75 cents for those 12 and older. Monies raised will be used by the Explorers for their activities and civic projects.

Among the favorites returning to the "haunted castle" will be the famous Count Dracula Jr., who again brought his casket from Transylvania to greet the many friends he made last year.

Provided he does not break his chains the Wild Man will be on display in the dungeon.

The Mummy is reportedly coming all the way from across the sea, and visitors may want to stop for a snack from the refrigerator in the "ghoul's kitchen."

A wide assortment of "friendly fiends" and "creaky crawlers," witches, warlocks, ghosts and goblins will be ready and waiting to "haunt" the public, beginning at 7 p.m. tomorrow.

Long canoe trip will aid drive

Two U.S. Navy men are paddling down the Mississippi River to help fight muscular dystrophy.

Navy Airmen Michael Trinski and Mike Stanton are on a 2,000-mile voyage in a 17-foot Dolphin canoe. Both men are attached to the Helicopter Mine and Counter Measures Squadron-12 at the Naval Air Station, Norfolk, Va. Their vessel is christened "Reimelon 12" in honor of their squadron.

They have received pledges of 10 cents per mile from business organizations for their venture, which began Oct. 10. They launched from Harriet Island in St. Paul, Minn.

All money raised through the project will be turned over to the national muscular dystrophy campaign when the canoe reaches its final destination, New Orleans, La. Trinski, a native of Illinois, and Stanton, from Wisconsin, are giving up their annual leave time to make the trip. They were piped off on their voyage by a trio of Navy officers and men stationed in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area.

COUNT DRACULA AND HIS FRIENDLY FIENDS are returning this year to the Quad-City area. The original cast from last year's "haunted house" have moved to the cellar of a "haunted castle," 1316 Madison Ave. The "haunted castle" will open Friday and continue through Halloween, Oct. 31, from 7 to 9 p.m. each day. It is being operated by members of Explorer Post 10-4, sponsored by the Madison Lions club and the Madison police department.

Many enjoy hard work

Fewer working hours. More holidays. Longer vacations. Earlier retirements. These are the "blessings" of an affluent—still affluent—society.

There are those who hold that these "blessings" proclaim the death of the great "Protestant work ethic."

But in a survey just completed, the Family Economics Bureau found that while Americans are not as dedicated to work itself as they were a generation or two ago, the "work styles" of many people are taking on new and different forms.

Many people still work hard, and some are compulsive workers—work addicts.

A total of 14.4 per cent of Americans work part-time so they will have more time to develop personal interests.

Also, the notion that work not only can be, but should be, enjoyable is gaining many converts.

Hard workers are to be found everywhere. Many of them tend to be concentrated in the professions, the managerial ranks and among the self-employed, the bureau says.

Take farmers. During planting and harvest seasons, it's common for them to work from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m., while some of their city cousins work 9 to 5 shifts.

Lee Groehner, a National Farmers Organization executive, said that farming is "a way of life"—that, to preserve it, farmers work from pre-dawn darkness to the setting of the sun.

Small independent businessmen often work 60-hour weeks, and sometimes as much as 80 hours, says Al Brodie, vice president of a state retailers federation. Each week they work six days, sometimes seven days, and one or two nights.

They enjoy their relative independence, says Brodie. Some, too, are motivated by the notion that no one can run the business as well as they. Some simply can't afford to hire help.

Corporate executives have the monkey called "profit responsibility" on their backs: Some refuse to hire assistants because additional salaries and benefits come "Off the bottom line" and are counted against them in their annual performance evaluations.

Executives often work Saturdays, though usually not all day, to get their "brownie points" with their bosses, says Stuart Baker, senior associate of Willson Associates, Inc., a management consultants. Baker says that it's not uncommon, either, for executives to work Sundays, often their most productive day.

One corporation president regularly calls his vice presidents' offices at 8 or 9 p.m. If they don't answer most of the time, he marks them "domestically oriented."

"Somehow," says the president of another company, "they don't stay around very long."

Many lawyers are 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. work hounds. It is the statute of limitations and the constitutional right to a speedy trial that continuously hound attorneys, says Gerald Regnier, executive director of a state bar association.

Also, he says, attorneys are driven by the dependency of the business world on the legal profession.

For teachers, the motivation to extra effort often is a sense of responsibility to their students and to society, says Pete Patiolis, director of public relations, for the Minnesota Education Association. The average work week for secondary school teachers in Minnesota is 37 hours—and for elementary teachers, 35 hours.

Mothers are legendary hard workers. "A woman's work is never done."

Women who hold second jobs often log exceptionally long hours. They return home in the evening to face the work they did not finish if they'd been home.

However, today's liberated women are winning converts among husbands to communal work-sharing.

One could easily "prove" that Americans are the hardest-working people in the world. One could also prove, with facts, that Americans are the most indolent people in the world.

As usual, the truth probably lies somewhere between the extremes. It is true that the "work ethic" has a bad reputation these days, but more people—85 million of them—are working than ever before.

The generation just entering the world of work most frequently snubs the "work ethic."

A study of work dissatisfaction by the Gallup Poll revealed 33 per cent of workers between 18 and 29 are unhappy with their work. Fully 70 per cent "feel that they aren't producing at full capacity," the poll showed.

In America, there seems to be a growing sense of dissatisfaction with work, including "workaholicism," a word coined by Warren E. Oates in his book, "Confessions of a Workaholic."

Oates, whose five-year-old son asked for an appointment to see his father, wrote that workaholics "feel guilty over pleasure, so they take care not to get too much of it."

Then there are the "radicals" who believe that it is perfectly possible for work and pleasure to be one and the same.

Referring to people whose passions are their work, Dr. Hans Selye, world-renowned authority on stress, says: "The most successful among the hard workers... often live to a very advanced age."

He names Pablo Casals, Winston Churchill, Albert Schweitzer, Arturo Toscanini, Konrad Adenauer and Pablo Picasso.

The survey refers to professionals, managers and self-employed persons who enjoy their work so much that they feel they've never worked a day in their lives and asserts:

"There is little doubt that this country could help its citizens to move much closer to the ideal of personal satisfaction and fulfillment in work if the objective was given higher priority by government, business and education."

State bar meet scheduled

Debate on the recent statement by U.S. Attorney General William French Smith concerning prisoner rehabilitation, a discussion by state and nationally known attorneys, and a speech by the author of a book on Henry Kissinger, plus numerous other programs highlight the Illinois State Bar Association's midyear meeting Oct. 31 to Nov. 2, at the Palmer House, Chicago.

Mackay noted that the general public is invited at no charge to a public affairs forum at 8 p.m., Oct. 31, in the Midway Room, featuring state and nationally known attorneys discussing the topic, "Legal Ethics In Our Changing Society."

Leaf mulch urged

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT
Lawn and garden expert

Disposal of leaves isn't a crisis when you make a compost pile, shred them with your lawnmower or spread them on your lawn.

Fallen leaves quickly rot to become humus when you keep them wet and add a little fertilizer. This event occurs in your yard and rose bed just as easily as part of your compost pile.

Fine textured leaves from Chinese elm, birch, ash, little leaf linden, etc., can be used without shredding or crushing. Coarse leaves from oak, sycamore, tulip poplar and magnolia will decompose better when shredded.

Leaves can be quickly pulverized with your lawnmower when piled in a driveway or street. If you plan to save leaves for late season mulching, these pulverized leaves seem well suited for storage in plastic trash can liners.

Pulverizing leaves on your lawn with your mower will dispose of the leaves without hurting your grass. The fine particles of leaves in the grass gradually rot as rain and fertilizer combine to produce compost.

Fall frosts will soon destroy your beautiful geraniums. But you can save one of each for next year's garden.

One method is keeping a single plant of each color as a potted plant in a porch or bedroom. Some pruning will be necessary when you move it indoors to prevent severe willow. In early January, begin to start cuttings in separate pots.

Another method is simply to gather a few cuttings and when they root you can start more cuttings in January.

Whether you select the mother plant method, or the cuttings, grow them in a bright location. Full sun is best. Even sunburn is better than too little sunlight.

Compost temperatures are more desirable than very warm locations. A cool porch or bedroom is ideal.

Yellow needles on the inside portion of pines in October are a normal development.

Pine trees drop a portion of their needles every year as a normal part of their growing cycle. Needle drop is rather dramatic when they suddenly turn yellow.

Vigorous trees appear hard hit because fast growth creates many new needles each year and they drop a large number of old ones each fall.

Pine needles normally function for two summers and drop during the third season. You can count the seasons' growth on your tree to determine which seasons needles are dropping.

If last year's needles are dropping as well as needles on this season's growth, then a fungus or insect problem has developed.

New energy a 'must'

Additional sources of energy must be found by the United States by the mid-1980s in order to maintain present standards of living. Dr. Dixy Lee Ray, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, told the Illinois Science Teachers Association during the weekend, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Dr. Ray predicted a 25 per cent increase in the U.S. work force by 1985 and a 34 per cent increase in the number of households in the nation.

As alternatives to present primary dependence on petroleum as the energy source for the production of electricity,

Dr. Ray urged greater use of coal and nuclear energy. She defended nuclear energy as "safe, clean environmentally acceptable, and available now."

There is "no activity in the industrial world with the safety record of atomic energy," the AEC head said.

Dr. Ray said other sources of energy, such as the sun, can be developed, but basic research and development work on these sources must precede extensive usage.

She predicted research and development work for additional sources of energy might take five to 15 years.

"Wind, solar energy, geothermal energy and synthetic fuels all have potential, but none will contribute significantly to short-range energy needs," she said.

Liquid petroleum supplies and proven reserves are unevenly distributed and amounts are dwindling. The AEC head said. She urged continued emphasis on conservation, but said that "we can't solve the energy problem merely by using less energy."

Termining the 1970s "energy age," Dr. Ray said the world's sources of energy and ways of using energy are limited and must be revamped. "Every society we have known has been based on easy availability and massive uses of sources of energy," she said.

Dr. Ray praised teachers for an "enormous job" done in teaching science to students in school but said they have failed to teach science to the public at large.

She blamed lack of information—and a willingness to believe unfounded charges being made about nuclear energy—for what she termed "emotional public debate over whether nuclear energy is all right to use."

"COME IN & BROWSE"
AT MARILYN'S

Two attend medical meeting

Drs. Robert S. Hill and Felicia D. Koch attended the Annual Scientific Assembly of the American Academy of Family Physicians in Los Angeles in mid-October. More than 4,000 family doctors are participating in this once-a-year continuing education conclave. The local physicians who are members of the Academy, heard nationally-known speakers discuss up-to-the-minute health care topics. They also attended clinical seminars and visited scientific and technical exhibits.

Subjects covered in the four-day scientific session were of interest to family doctors both in their everyday practices and in their continual endeavors to keep abreast of the latest advances in medicine. This year, topics included hypertension diagnosis and management, management of pain, synovectomy in rheumatoid arthritis, and the minimal brain damaged child.

The Academy, headquartered in Kansas City, Mo., is the nation's second largest medical association and the only national medical organization that requires its more than 36,000 members to keep "going back to school." All AAFP members must complete 150 hours of continuing education every three years.

Dr. Hill and Dr. Koch received Charter Fellowships in the American Academy of Family Physicians at the convention.

COURT HEARING FRIDAY
Frank Bosworth, 39, of 1301 Madison Ave., is to appear in Granite City court Friday on charges of unlawful use of a weapon and having no firearms identification card. He was arrested Oct. 13 in Mickey and Millie's tavern, 1800 State St., where officers said they found him following an earlier disturbance in a Madison tavern where police said a gun was displayed.

Waterway chart now available

The latest edition of an inland waterway traffic flow chart, titled "Inland Freight Tonnage by Direction of Movement on the Mississippi River and Selected Tributaries, and the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway, Calendar Year 1972," is now available.

This chart, published by the Mississippi River Commission of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, has generated widespread interest for use in transportation analysis.

In addition to the volume of inland freight moved over the Mississippi River and Gulf Intracoastal Waterway, the chart shows in graphic form, by river mile and direction, the density of traffic over the entire navigable length of the Monongahela, Ohio, Tennessee, Cumberland, Missouri, and Illinois Rivers, and others.

Interchange traffic between connecting waterways also is reported on the chart.

Copies of this wall chart, printed in color on white paper 33 inches wide by 39 inches long, may be obtained for $2 each from the office of the District Engineer, Vicksburg District, Corps of Engineers, P.O. Box 60, Vicksburg, Miss. 39180. Payment must accompany order.

Wool prices showing drop

"Sheep farmers may get small payments for wool under the Wool Act for 1974 Marketing," reports Lee Rogers, county executive director of the Madison County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Office.

"Prices for this year's wool will average between 60 and 65 cents per pound—below the 75-cent incentive price." Farm prices for shorn wool now run below last year's average—82 cents per pound.

However, this year's price stands substantially above the depressed levels of recent years.

The 1974 price drop reflects a decline in wool demand. Mill use of raw wool has declined sharply because of increased competition from manmade fibers and because of a general downturn in mill activity. Mill use of apparel wool may decline to 80-85 million pounds, scoured basis, this year. Manmade fibers also made sharp inroads into carpet wool last year.

General Steel earnings rise

General Steel Industries, Inc. this week reported net income for the three months ended Sept. 30, was $1,387,822, or 55 cents per share of common stock, compared with $740,886 or 30 cents per share, in the third quarter last year. Sales in the third quarter this year were $16,049,411 compared with $13,658,566 in the third quarter of 1973.

The third quarter's results brought GSI's net income for the first nine months of 1974 to $3,546,209, or $1.41 per share of common stock, compared with $2,160,398, or 86 cents per share, in the same period last year. Sales for the first nine months this year were $44,377,083 compared with $37,430,290 in the same period in 1973.

GSI's results were announced by W. Ashley Gray Jr., chairman and chief executive officer, and James A. Van Sant, president and chief operating officer. The net income statement for both years includes tax credits representing partial realization of the company's tax loss carry-forward.

The improvement reported by GSI for the first half of 1974 was maintained through the nine months. Markets for capital goods held up well with increased opportunities for profit and generally good performance in all units. At the same time all GSI divisions have experienced severe cost pressures with shortages and delays in raw materials which complicated operations. The order backlog stood at $26,764,000 on Sept. 30, compared with $14,134,000 a year earlier.

GSI's indebtedness now stands at $17,050,000. Debt reduction since June 30 amounted to $1,570,000 and totals $7,290,500 for 1974 to date.

UFO expert to speak here

A widely acclaimed expert in the field of unidentified flying objects will address the public and members of Granite City Explorer Post 2001 at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 5, at the Nameoki Recreation Center, Amos and Franklin Avenues.

Clarence O. Dargie of O'Fallon, who has lectured throughout the country with Erich Von Daniken, author of "Chariot of the Gods," has done extensive research on the subject, especially in the area of ancient accounts of UFOs and extra-terrestrial beings.

Dargie has collaborated in writing a book entitled "Our Haunted Skies" to be published next year, has been featured in a recently published book entitled "UFOs—Interplanetary Visitors," and has narrated a television documentary on the subject.

Explorer Post 2001, sponsored by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., Granite City, specializes in the investigation of strange phenomena, unidentified flying objects and space exploration.

Tickets for the lecture cost $1 in advance and $1.50 at the door.

Issue charters

Two Granite City organizations have been granted domestic corporation charters by the state of Illinois. Michael J. Howlett, secretary of state, has announced.

Granted a charter was H.S.F. Psychological Consultants, Inc., 4062 Sara St., Apt. 93. Carl C. Lang is charterer. The charter lists 30,000 shares of common stock with $1 par value each.

The corporation is to "generally deal in the business of psychological consulting," according to the new charter. The correspondent is Rosenblum and Goldenhersh, attorneys at law, 7777 Bonhomme Ave., St. Louis.

A domestic corporation charter also has been issued to Huebner Hardware, Inc., 2870 Madison Ave., with L. R. Lenzi and J. E. Marlen as charterers. Listed are 1,000 shares of non-par value stock.

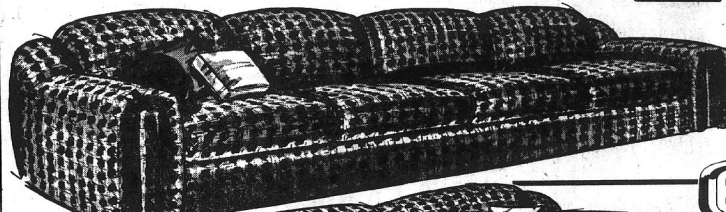

The hardware firm is to "sell and lease wares made of metal such as fittings, trimmings and related utensils, parts and chattels."

Correspondent is C. T. Corporation System, 314 North Broadway, St. Louis.
